'U.N. Approves Peace Call After U.S.-Russian Clash

Assembly Vote On Resolution Is Unanimous

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly Monday night unanimously approved a resolution urging constructive steps to achieve world peace—but only after bitter words between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The United States and the Soviet Union both supported the resolution.

But just before the vote U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth accused the Soviet Union of trying to use the resolution sponsored by 28 nations as a means to fan the flames of international hatred and suspicion.

He spoke after Valerian A. Zorin, the Soviet delegate, told the assembly it was the United States that is poisoning the international atmosphere and threatening peace by a policy of provocation.

U.S. Blamed For Summit Breakup
Zorin said the United States was responsible for the breakup of the summit conference in Paris last May.

By such words, Wadsworth declared, the Soviet Union was using the resolution as a pretext for "cold war propaganda."

The U.S. delegate read a prepared text expressing support for the resolution, then said he had to expand his remarks because of the violent attack on U.S. policy by Zorin.

Earlier V. K. Krishna Menon, India's defense minister, urged the assembly to take immediate steps to head off the threat of world catastrophe stemming from growing cold war tensions.

Before the vote there were additional reverberations in committee debate that showed bitter East-West battles loomed ahead on proposals put forward by Soviet Premier Khrushchev during the stormy opening weeks of the 99-nation assembly.

Dag Defends Aides In Congo

The assembly heard also a vigorous defense by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of his U.N. lieutenants in carrying out their task in the Congo. Hammarskjöld hit out again at Khrushchev's charges that the United Nations was working with imperialist forces trying to impose a new colonialism in the Congo.

Urging the assembly not to "throw in the sponge," Krishna Menon said it was essential to reverse the trend set off in the first weeks of the assembly debate.

He called the resolution "no escape into unreality," but a recognition that the present status of East-West relations constitutes a grave risk to international peace.

De Gaulle Receives Prelates' Support

PARIS (AP)—The French hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church spoke out Monday for President Charles de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for rebellious Algeria. It urged a speedy peace with the "free support of the population."

Cardinals and archbishops issued a joint statement to this effect just as the French press took notice of rumors of a plot against De Gaulle and his Algerian policy among the country's extreme right wing.

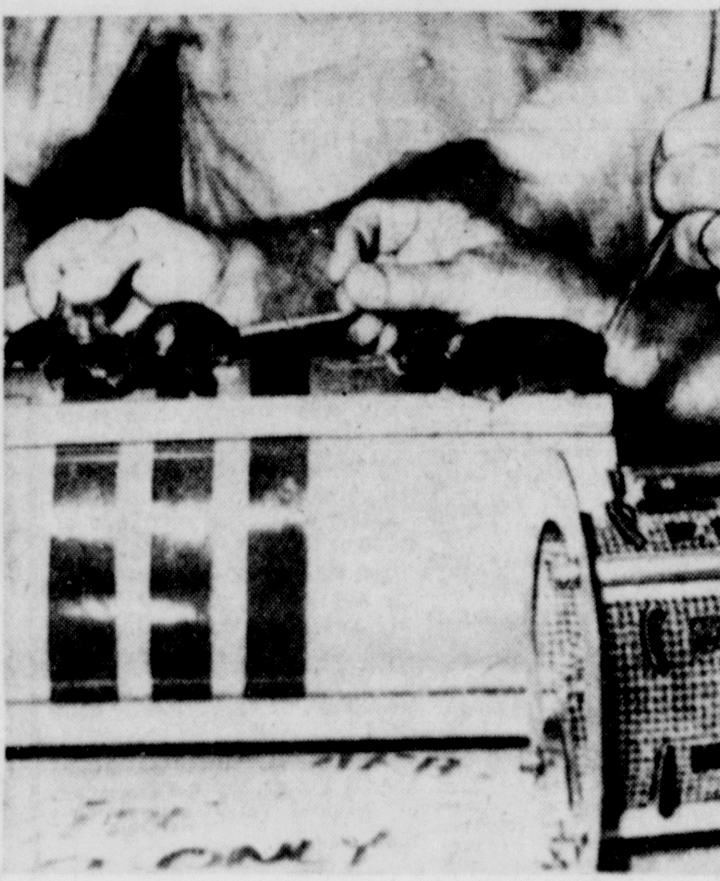

The churchmen—led by Pierre Cardinal Gerlier, archbishop of Lyon, and by Maurice Cardinal Felin, archbishop of Paris—cited what they called the noble example of freedom for France's former African colonies as a guide to a swift solution in Algeria, which is legally considered a part of the French homeland.

Space Mice

The three mice that were sent 700 miles into space last Thursday are shown atop the container that housed them on the flight. Each of the mice had a separate container in the cage at right which was inserted into the metal container. The rodents were displayed at a "press conference" at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday.

Chains Integrate Lunch Counters

NEW YORK (AP) — Variety store lunch counters in 112 Southern cities have been integrated since last February, four leading chain stores announced Monday.

A joint statement by officials of the four companies declared that in some 75 per cent of these communities there was no past record of picketing, sit-ins or other demonstrations.

The companies—F. W. Woolworth Co., S. H. Kress & Co., W. T. Grant Co. and McCrory-McLellan Stores Corp.—said discussions are continuing with community leaders, and may lead to further lunch counter desegregation.

Starting eight months ago, Negro students began a campaign of sit-ins and picketing at numerous lunch counters across the South to protest against the policy of service to whites only.

Mobutu Defers Parliament Call

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu changed his mind Monday about calling parliament back into session and reaffirmed his decision to "neutralize" political parties and parliament until the first of the year.

Mobutu seized control of the Congo last month and ousted both Premier Patrice Lumumba and Joseph Ileo, the premier appointed by President Joseph Kasavubu. Recently he was reported ready to call parliament back into session to oust Lumumba formally.

Mobutu conferred this weekend in Elisabethville with President Moise Tshombe of secessionist Katanga Province and apparently decided Lumumba had too much strength in parliament to risk such a maneuver although Lumumba's opponents claimed 83 of the 137 seats.

14 TV Quiz Contestants Facing Perjury Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen winners out of television's bygone quiz show era surrendered Monday to answer charges of perjury. Between them, they won more than half a million dollars on giveaways where some contestants were coached secretly in questions and answers.

The defendants are accused of lying to a Manhattan grand jury to conceal the rigging process, which exploited the specious knowledge of television performers before up to 50 million American viewers.

The 14 ranged from a Brooklyn man, winner of a modest $500 on "The Tac Dough," to Elfrida Nardoff, who set a television winning record of $220,500 on "Twenty-One" in 1958.

Also included was Charles Van Doren, seemingly erudite winner

U.S. Resumes Laos Military Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has ordered resumption of its big military assistance program to Laos, including direct salary payments to the 25,000-man royal army, State Department official said Monday night.

The action ended a suspension of 10 days or more during which the Soviet Union sought to move into the vacuum with an offer of aid to neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma.

The decision to resume American aid which amounts to about $46 million a year stemmed from talks with Phouma in the Lao capital of Vientiane by troubleshooter J. Graham Parsons, assistant secretary of state for the Far East.

U.S. officials said whatever influence the United States brought to bear was in an effort to bring a unified effort by Lao authorities in their fight to maintain independence against Communist pressures.

Sufficient assurances were received from Phouma so that the United States could go ahead and resume its aid program, informants said.

Most of the September payments to troops which had been held up have now been authorized for payment and steps are being taken to make the October payments by the end of this month.

The United States had disagreed with Phouma in the timing of his peace talks with the Communist-directed Pathet Lao guerrillas which now are under way.

But the neutralist Lao premier has shown backbone in the first conditions he has laid down in negotiating with the Pathet Lao leaders, the State Department feels.

These conditions are first that the Pathet Lao must get out of the northern garrison town of Sam Neua.

Secondly, Phouma has demanded that Pathet Lao guerrillas disengage in areas where they are fighting royal Lao forces.

The guerrillas were told to lay down their arms.

If the negotiations with the Pathet Lao follow the pattern of 1958, it is believed here that the peace talks will drag out for a long time.

The United States has supported Laos with hundreds of millions of dollars since the isolated southeast Asian country became independent from France in 1954 after the Indochina war.

Word of the reversal of the U.S. position came a few hours after reports from Vientiane that Souvanna had turned down two offers by Parsons for resumption of aid because of conditions attached by the United States.

The premier was reported weighing the Russian aid offer which was made Saturday when Soviet Ambassador Nikitich Aramov presented his credentials.

Lackawanna, Erie Merge

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Erie Railroad and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad formally merged Monday and officials of the new Erie-Lackawanna predicted it would be back on the earning track by 1965.

With the merger, the Erie-Lackawanna became the nation's 12th largest rail carrier on the basis of operating revenues. It has total assets of more than $700 million.

The combined trackage of the two roads totals 4,600 miles and extends from Hoboken and Jersey City, N.J., to Chicago, Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio.

The merger, proposed 18 months ago and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be effective Oct. 15, became official Monday at a meeting of the board of directors of the new railroad whose headquarters will be Cleveland.

Harry W. Von Willer, former Erie president, was named chairman, president and chief executive officer of the Erie-Lackawanna. The new vice chairman is Perry M. Shoemaker, former president of the DL&W.

Ohio's Capital Gives Kennedy Wild Welcome

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A jamming, pushing crowd that tested the efforts of hard working police gave Sen. John F. Kennedy one of the wildest welcomes of his campaign Monday night as he arrived here to win up the one-day motorcade bid for Ohio's 25 electoral votes.

Kennedy aides said the crowd was one of the biggest the Democratic nominee has received anywhere. It certainly was one of the most enthusiastic.

Screaming, shouting well-wishers, swelled by a Monday night shoppers' crowd, jammed block after block of the downtown section as Kennedy's motorcade rolled in more than one hour late for an evening speech on the state capital grounds.

At some points, it took the elbow-wielding efforts of 12 to 15 policemen around Kennedy's car to keep the enthusiastic throng from literally tearing the youthful senator from his open-top convertible.

State Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys estimated the local turnout at 100,000, one of the largest in the city's political history.

Earlier in the day, Kennedy said he "will not consider" race or religion in making cabinet and other appointments, an indirect reference to a recent statement by GOP vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge that the next cabinet should include a Negro.

"I am not going to promise a cabinet post or any other post to any race or ethnic group because that is racism at its worst," Kennedy said at Springfield, Ohio, "I do not promise to consider race or religion in my appointment—I promise only that I will not consider them."

Kennedy also stressed honesty in government in his Springfield talk at Wittenberg University's football field.

"No party has a monopoly on honesty," he said, "but a new administration must screen out those who regard government service as the door to power or wealth," adding that "no government is better than the men who compose it and I want the best."

More 'Space Mice' Flights Indicated

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An Air Force scientist Monday called a 5,000-mile flight by three "space mice" aboard an Atlas missile "highly successful," and said a man probably could have survived the rugged test.

Dr. Hans Clamann, chief of the Department of Space Medicine for the Air Force School of Medicine (AFSM) at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., also indicated more such tests will be attempted as the time nears for the first U.S. manned space flights.

Clamann indicated he was quite pleased by the performance of "space mice" Sally, Amy and Moe, who cavorted in a large gray box on a table as the scientist explained details of their 30-minute journey into space in the nose of an Atlas intercontinental missile last Thursday.

High Court Gives LBJ Green Light

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday brushed off a legal move to bar Lyndon B. Johnson from running for two federal offices at the same time—U.S. senator and vice president.

Without comment, the court refused to hear the contentions of Michael E. Schville, a Dallas college student, that this constituted an abridgement of his constitutional voting rights.

The high court refused to interfere with an order of U.S. Dist. Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. dismissing Schville's suit to prevent Johnson from seeking the two offices in the Nov. 8 election. Rice said that in his opinion there is no substantial constitutional question involved in the case.

The Texas election code permits one man to seek election to two federal offices at the same time.

Local Revolts, Ends GE Strike

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The General Electric Co.'s main plant churned toward full production Monday, after Local 301 of the International Union of Electrical Workers defied national union officials and led striking employees back to work.

IUE President James B. Carey conceded in New York that the Schenectady rebellion had weakened the union's bargaining position but said he expected the union conference board, meeting Tuesday in New York, to continue its policy of "no contract, no work." The strike went into its third week at more than 50 other GE plants across the nation.

The 8,700-member Schenectady local returned peacefully to work after accepting a company offer to continue terms of the old contract, minus its cost-of-living escalator clause, pending negotiations. The chief stumbling block in negotiations has been the escalator clause, which provided for wage increases based on rises in the cost of living and which GE wants to drop.

Local 301 was opposed to the strike at the outset.

Nixon, Rejecting Fifth TV Debate, Offers Alternative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon Monday turned down the idea of a fifth television debate with Sen. John F. Kennedy. Kennedy urged that he reconsider.

The two presidential candidates took stands which indicated small chance of agreement on anything beyond the fourth date, next Friday night.

Republican Nixon said he could not change his schedule to permit another debate with Kennedy later than Friday night; he did offer to extend their debate that even-odd to include questions from the public as well as newsmen.

Democrat Kennedy had already frowned on a Nixon suggestion to run Friday's show for two hours, instead of one, saying he doubted they could hold public interest that long. He said in a statement in Ohio Monday that Nixon has refused to move back their fourth debate.

Runaway Truck Kills 3 Children At Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Three children, two from the same family, were killed Monday and five persons were injured when the brakes on a tractor-trailer failed on a steep hill here and it smashed into a laundromat.

Police said the accident occurred about 4:30 p.m. EDT on a section of Route 219 known as Prospect Hill which leads into the heart of this Cambria County city. The trailer was loaded with canned and packaged dog food, police said.

The dead were identified as Denise Anthony, 6, her sister, Marty, 8, and Brenda Morris, 8. They were all dead on arrival at Lee Hospital here.

Arthur Morgan, 31, of RD 2, Newton Falls, Ohio, the truck driver, and his wife, Rosalie, 29, were both injured. Morgan told police that his brakes failed as he approached the steep grade and his vehicle went out of control.

The other injured were identified as Mrs. Viola Tucker, 44, admitted with shock; Beverly Anthony, 10, sister of the two dead girls, leg and arm injuries; and Mrs. Dorothy Myers, 25, right knee and left arm injuries.

Police said if Morgan would have rode his vehicle down the steep grade he never would have made a nearly 90-degree turn at the bottom and would have plunged about 200 feet over an embankment.

The hill leads to a viaduct spanning the Conemaugh and Blacklick Railroad tracks.

The laundromat, located in a congested area of the city, was not scheduled to be opened until next week. Workmen were still at the site when the huge vehicle smashed into the structure.

Try To Tempt Undeveloped Free Nations

Eisenhower Blasts 'False Propaganda' In President Race

DETROIT (AP)—President Eisenhower warned Monday night the Pied Piper's tune of Communist propagandists is everlastingly trying to lure more nations out of the free world camp. He called for redoubled effort around the globe to prevent this.

"The stopwatch of history is running," the President said in an address prepared for the 43rd National Automobile Show dinner. "The race is on to see whether the material and spiritual needs of the world will be better met through dictatorial control, communized enterprise, immorality and inhumanity, or through freedom, private enterprise, and co-operative action, inspired by the concepts of religious morality and respect for human dignity."

Eisenhower set forth these views after flying in from Washington to start a nine-day, cross-country tour.

But shortly after his arrival the President lashed out twice at what he termed "false or extreme propaganda" in the presidential campaign.

Union Leaflet Target
Eisenhower's target was a leaflet distributed in a publication of the United Automobile Workers Union — a leaflet pictured by the Detroit News as one "skillfully implying that only bigots oppose the election" of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for election to the White House.

The four-page leaflet, prepared by the National Committee on Political Action (COPE) of the AFL-CIO, had on its front cover a cartoon of the Statue of Liberty and a Klu Klux Klansman. A caption said "Which do you choose? Liberty or bigotry?"

Eisenhower did not mention the leaflet by name, but White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the President was talking about the document distributed in the union publication.

Eisenhower declared that "anyone who is guilty in America of putting out any kind of document that tries to tear down our self-respect, which tries to make us believe that we are not trying to do the good and best things for ourselves and for the world, this is a disservice to the United States."

Reuther Voices Regret
UAW President Walter P. Reuther expressed public regret over the publication. He called it a "mistake in judgment" and said the union would publish an editorial to correct "any possible misinterpretation."

Reuther said the material was published to counteract what he called "religious hate material" which he said had been distributed in auto plants across the nation by "organized hate groups."

The Michigan Fair Elections Commission, summoned to a meeting to discuss the incident, denounced the pamphlet as "bigotry with a reverse twist."

Struck Paper Executive Shot

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A shotgun blast ripped into the hip and thigh of Donald Newhouse, an executive of the struck Oregonian, as he worked at his home Sunday night. Monday he said he had been threatened recently as he crossed the picket line at the newspaper plant.

He said one of the pickets told him, "You're going to get it — You'll go to heaven soon."

Police said a picket told them he might have said that to Newhouse, but he was home at the time of Sunday night's shooting, that came as Newhouse stood at a basement workbench, filing a key. The only solid clue at hand, police said, were footprints near the window through which the blast was fired.

Police moved swiftly after the shooting to put under protective surveillance the home of every executive of the newspaper, which has continued to operate with non-union employees despite a strike now in its 11th month.

Newhouse was reported in satisfactory condition Monday after undergoing surgery. Doctors said he was struck by about 100 pellets.

The Oregonian said Newhouse "played a key role in maintaining production at the Oregonian after it and the Journal were struck by the Stereotypers Union."

These states hold 267 electoral votes—only two below the clinching number.

A new Associated Press survey indicates Nixon and Kennedy are running about neck and neck three weeks before the voters have their say.

Over-all, Kennedy apparently was trailing a bit in the previous survey two weeks ago, but he seems to have pulled up almost even.

The AP survey—based on soundings in all 50 states—shows

Nixon leading in 19 states with 141 electoral votes.

Kennedy was credited with being ahead in 14 states with 129 votes. However, in a few Southern states a scattering of Democratic electors might withhold their votes from Kennedy even if he should take their states.

In the previous survey, Nixon was regarded as leading in 22 states with 161 electoral votes. Kennedy was listed as out front in 14 states then, too, but his electoral vote total was 6 fewer—123.

To make forecasting even more risky, the Kennedy or Nixon lead was considered so fragile in some states that the balance might tip the other way before election day, Nov. 8.

This newest analysis—drawn from the observations of AP and newspaper political experts, the opinions of political leaders and the results of polls—gives some evidence that Kennedy might be gaining an advantage in some of the big doubtful states.

These include New York, 45; Pennsylvania, 32; California, 32; and Michigan, 20.

And some of the undecided states appear to be sliding toward Nixon. These are Minnesota, 11; Utah, 4; and New Mexico, 4.

In the past two weeks, Kentucky, 10; Colorado, 6; and Arizona, 4, moved from the Nixon column into the tossup group.

Louisiana, 10, switched from doubtful to Kennedy's roster. Montana, 4, credited to Kennedy last time, became doubtful.

The other tossup states are Ohio, 25; Texas, 24; North Carolina, 14; Missouri, 13; Tennessee, 11, and Mississippi, 8.

Lodge In Md.; Finan Urges Fifth Debate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans stepped up their campaign in Maryland Monday with a two-county visit by vice presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge and an announcement that a meeting for Negro campaign leaders will be held Friday in Baltimore.

Lodge, scheduled to speak at rallies in Prince Georges and Montgomery County, set his appearance in the suburban Washington area just 24 hours after a similar visit by Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy. About 12,000 turned out for Kennedy.

On the Democratic front, Maryland Chairman Thomas B. Finan called on Vice President Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, to agree to a fifth television debate with Kennedy.

"As one of many Americans who have watched with mounting interest the debates on television between you and the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy," Finan wired Nixon. "I respectfully and urgently request you to agree to a fifth nationwide television debate."

Kennedy and Nixon have engaged in three TV debates and a fourth is scheduled. Kennedy has suggested that a fifth be held before the Nov. 8 election.

"I feel sure that in submitting this request, I am voicing the sentiments of thousands of voters in our great State of Maryland, as well as throughout the country," Finan told Nixon.

Republican headquarters said 250 to 300 persons from throughout Maryland are expected to attend the Friday "leadership conference" at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

They will gather at a luncheon which will be addressed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee and a leading exponent of civil rights legislation.

BALTIMORE (AP)—An election night rally will be held on the Morgan State College campus Nov. 8 by the Institute for Political Education at the college.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland Port Authority officials will meet Tuesday with pier operators, an assistant in the U.S. Attorney General's office here and an FBI agent to discuss methods of curbing theft at Baltimore's docks.

The meeting was called by the MPA following a written request for "drastic action" to the Justice Department and the FBI by the MPA counsel William L. Marbury.

Try To

In his speech Eisenhower said at the outset that he was speaking in a nonpartisan spirit. There were only a few sections of the address which related to some of the campaign arguments being waged by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP candidate for the White House, and his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

In dealing with the international situation the President said the Communist propagandists, playing a Pied Piper's tune, tempt the disadvantaged (free nations) to believe that communism is the only way. Thus, they boast that the Soviet Union will soon outstrip even the United States in production.

"We must continue to try to get the underprivileged to look behind this claim," he said.

Touching indirectly then on Kennedy's contention that the Soviet Union's production is increasing at a swifter pace than America's, Eisenhower said: "It is not surprising that productivity is increasing at a faster rate in Russia than it is in the United States. Indeed, it would be surprising if this were not so, for the Bolsheviks started, some 40 years ago, at a very low level, and channel all production according to political need."

"By imitation and seizure, the Kremlin has been able to use many advanced practices developed over the years by free world scientists and technologists."

"Yet even if we accepted the claim that a communized system will eventually equal our productivity—which, of course, we do not—we would reject it (the system) for a complete communization of the means of production will succeed only under a dictatorship. We would prefer poverty in freedom to riches in slavery."

Tax Foe Sets Up 2d State

BROWNSTON, England (AP)—From the security of his new capital here, bearded Bill Wheel, chief executive of the independent state of Shoreham, carried on Monday his long cold war against authority.

Wheel objects to paying taxes. He says money the government collects in taxes should be spent on medical research—not hydrogen bombs.

Wheel retreated to his derelict hamlet in a Devon Valley after the West Sussex County Council evicted him from his former capital at Shoreham-by-Sea.

He bought up six empty cottages here, proclaimed Brownston his new capital, and announced: "All this property was bought in the name of the independent state of Shoreham. The British government does not recognize it. So how can you tax something that does not officially exist?"

Wheel's rumpus with the West Sussex Council was over a high wall he put up around his Shoreham home. When the Council told him to knock the thing down, he said nuts, or something like that, hoisted the Union Jack and proclaimed his home an independent state—within the British Commonwealth, of course.

He armed a garrison of his friends with shot guns and stationed a couple of rusted old armored cars and a Sherman tank, relics of the war, in the garden. They weren't armed—it was just a gesture of defiance to authority, he made clear.

Well, the great deterrent of Wheel's cavalry couldn't thwart the power of the law, and Wheel had to get out.

Head Of C&O Appeals To B&O Stockholders

BALTIMORE (AP)—President Walter J. Tuohy of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway made another appeal by mail Monday to stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

"It's your money, you have the vote," Tuohy wrote, urging the B&O stockholders to make up their minds whether they want their line to merge with the C&O or the New York Central.

The plan to merge has dragged on since mid-June, when the C&O first offered a stock exchange aimed at an eventual merger. The C&O offered one share of C&O common stock for each share of B&O preferred, and one share of C&O common for each 1 1/2 shares of B&O common.

The NYC made a fight of it later that month by offering 1 1/2 shares of NYC common and $9 in cash for each share of B&O common. It made no offer for B&O's preferred shares.

Both offers have since been extended—the C&O to Nov. 30 and the NYC to Dec. 14. The B&O announced last month it would make joint merger studies with NYC.

The presidents of both other lines have come to Baltimore personally since the merger proposal was made in attempts to convince Baltimore businessmen their offers should be accepted.

Tuohy's letter included a table showing that C&O net income for June, July and August was $9,560, while the B&O had a loss of $3,920,000 and the NYC lost $5,477,000. He also said more than one-fourth of all B&O common shares and more than one-third of its preferred already have voted acceptance of the C&O stock exchange offer.

Liquor Stamp Fight Renewed By Goldstein

BALTIMORE (AP)—State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein requested five additional alcoholic beverage inspectors Monday and said he would need 20 more if tax stamps are removed from liquor bottles.

Goldstein said the alcoholic beverage division needs five more men for its present program, but warned, "if they do away with the stamps, I'll ask the Governor for a supplemental appropriation to hire 20 more."

He said the supplemental appropriation could reach $140,000, the estimated cost of automobiles and salaries for additional inspectors.

The comptroller has been critical of a proposal calling for the removal of tax stamps from liquor bottles in favor of a reporting system.

He took his fight against the change to the Legislative Council recently, predicting that the move would create enforcement difficulties, cut into revenues and encourage bootlegging.

On the latter possibility, Goldstein said today, "Maryland right now is free of any organized bootlegging and I'm going to keep it that way."

Goldstein's active campaign against the tax stamp proposal, reported on favorably by the Legislative Council, invited the fire of Del. A. Gordon Boone, whose council committee held a hearing on the proposal.

Boone charged Goldstein with attempting to influence the General Assembly before it convenes in January.

Lineman Killed By Falling Pole

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Daniel L. Morgan, 22, Greensburg, a West Penn Power Co. lineman, was killed Monday when a utility pole toppled on him as it was being set in place by fellow workers.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yoney said Morgan, who died of a broken neck, attempted to escape the falling pole but tripped and fell while running.

Morgan, a native of Fairmont, W. Va., will be buried at Rogersville, Pa., Greene County, near Waynesburg, where his parents, Norval and Maude Morgan, reside.

Extradition Of Fugitive Up To N.C. Gov. Hodges

BALTIMORE (AP)—An attorney here was advised Monday to ask North Carolina Governor Luther Hodges to withdraw a request for extradition of a Baltimore man who escaped from a Maryland road gang 25 years ago.

Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general of Maryland, advised the map's attorney, Charles A. Friedman, to ask Gov. Hodges to drop extradition proceedings.

Buscher presided at the proceedings.

"I find it difficult to understand why the State of North Carolina would seek extradition after 25 years for so minor an offense," Buscher said.

The man, 60-year-old Roland Belton, testified he had twice escaped from road gangs in 1935 while serving a six month term for hitting his wife.

After his first escape he was apprehended in Baltimore. He was returned to North Carolina but escaped to Baltimore a second time.

Belton's attorney argued it would be "utterly unfair" to require his client, a one-armed Negro, to serve the remainder of the six-month sentence imposed upon him in 1935.

But Buscher noted that if North Carolina authorities insist upon the extradition, Maryland Governor J. Millard Tawes has no choice but to comply with the request.

Friedman, citing Belton's crime-free record here, declared, "The cause of justice would not be served by sending him back to North Carolina."

Extradition proceedings were started after Belton underwent fingerprinting procedures after applying for a push-cart license in Baltimore.

Rammed By Ore Ship, 85-Foot Yacht Sinks

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md. (AP)—An 85-foot yacht moored at a wharf here sank early Monday after being rammed by an ore freighter which had slipped off course in the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

Another vessel moored at the wharf was struck by the yacht. No one was injured in the three-way collision, State Police reported.

Cause of the collision was attributed to faulty steering.

The SS Bethcoaster, the freighter, was loaded with steel sheets and bars. State Trooper Larry E. Rush said the vessel, owned by the Ore Navigation Corp. of New York City, was not seriously damaged.

The seven persons sleeping aboard the yacht, The Brigadier, all escaped shortly after the 2 a.m. collision.

Hop-Scotch, the children's game, originated in England.

HARD MONEY INVESTMENTS

This term is applied to money which does not change in value—either up or down. It is the duty of Government not to debase its own currency and rob its citizens of their life earnings. As single individuals, there is not much we can do about that except to oppose it.

It is wise for people to place some part of their savings in investments which will not depreciate in value when bad news is received, and you can do something about that. Sound mortgages and bonds are classed as hard money investments, because they are repayable in fixed dollars regardless of bad news or good news.

We are engaged in taking only sound first mortgages on homes in this community which we believe are reasonably secure against market fluctuation.

Alvie E. Murray To Be Honored By Family Party

The family of Alvie E. Murray, Braddock Road, will entertain with a dinner in celebration of his completion of 50 years service with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

It will be held at the Cumberland Country Club October 23, at 2 p.m., with Mr. Murray's grandchildren, his brothers and sisters-in-law as guests.

Mr. Murray, who began work P. Davis, Santa Ana, Calif., with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as a youth, has held various positions, and was a conductor of a freight train, when he moved to Cumberland from Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston around 1939. Now a Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnston, conductor on a passenger train from Cumberland to Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Harry A. Murray, he will make his last trip October 30-31.

County Achievement Program To Be Held Nov. 1

The annual Allegany County Homemakers Achievement Day will be observed November 1. It will be in St. Luke's Lutheran Church hall, Frederick Street, from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The program will be varied, with a business session at 10:30, followed by a guided tour of the church.

Miss Ann Russell, mid-south nutrition representative of the American Institute of Baking, will be the main speaker at the luncheon.

A report of the nominating committee for a vice president and secretary will be given by Mrs. William Flora. Other members serving with her are Mrs. Paul Gilford, Mrs. Douglas Smith and Mrs. Roy Shryock and Mrs. Edward Shaffer.

Homemakers are asked to make their reservations with their club presidents, not later than October 25, as they have to report to the extension office before noon October 25.

Miss Mary Wise stresses that anyone is welcome to attend the meeting, so if friends who are not members of the homemakers clubs wish to attend, invitations should be extended. Mrs. Arthur Evans, Mrs. James Armstrong and Mrs. John Barton are in charge of arrangements for the observance.

The third of the series of Mountain Conference mission study programs will be held at 7:30 tonight in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with Mrs. James Orr leader.

Minister, Family Are Honored

Rev. and Mrs. George S. Widmyer and three of their children, Cynda Colleen, Sharon Patricia and Mark Leland, were honored by members and friends of the Ridgeley EUB Church.

The couple's eldest son, A. George Widmyer, is an honor security guard at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington.

The party was held in the form of a buffet supper, Sunday evening in the church social room. Gary Swadley offered the prayer of blessing at the table. The devotion for the evening was led by Mrs. Raymond Swadley. The church choir sang, "No One Ever Cares for Me, Like Jesus."

Raymond Swadley offered the evening prayer.

William Barr, delegate for the Potomac Park-Ridgeley charge, to the annual Virginia conference, extended his greetings to the pastor and his family. Concluding his remarks, he presented each with a red rose.

Representing the church stewards, Dennis Baker spoke and presented the honor guests with an automatic toaster.

Rev. Widmyer responded and thanked the group for the gifts. He recently was assigned to the Potomac Park-Ridgeley churches to begin his fifth year of ministry in the charge.

The general meeting of the Cumberland Republican Women's Club will be held tomorrow at 1:30 at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Following the business session, J. Glenn Beall, Jr., will meet with the group to coordinate the volunteer work of the women with the state central committee. Mrs. Arthur A. Verner will preside.

GREETING AUXILIARY — William Clay of Chevy Chase, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans, extended greetings to the Ladies Auxiliary, at the DAV home. Various unit reports were given and it was decided to purchase a 50 star flag for Perry Point Hospital, sell pocketbooks, umbrellas, gloves and

Chapter 914 Receives Invitations

Cumberland Chapter, 914 Women of the Moose received two invitations at its meeting, conducted by Mrs. Florence Wolf, at the home.

One was to attend the Star Recorder's Day at Frostburg and the other for the convocation of the Women of the Moose. The latter is to be held at Glen Burnie October 30. Mrs. Wolf, senior regent; and Mrs. Mary Humbertson, Star Recorder, will attend.

The chapter voted on two candidates for the meeting to be held November 10.

"Christmas in October" was observed with Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan chairman for Mooseheart and Mrs. Humbertson for Moosehaven. Approximately 60 gifts were donated for the two homes. The gifts for children will be sent to Chicago and those for the aged to Florida, the end of the month.

Preceding the meeting a toy party was held.

Gold Star Mothers To Elect

The Tri State Chapter, Gold Star Mothers, will have election of officers at the meeting, which will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion home.

Mrs. Jennie Peebles, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the slate of officers. Other members of her committee are Mrs. Gladys Meeks and Mrs. Bertha Shea.

All members of the chapter are urged to attend.

Concluding the business session a social hour will be held.

WCTU To Have Program Tomorrow

A program on "Classroom Approach" will be led by Mrs. Burr James at the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union which will be held tomorrow at 1:30 in the First Methodist Church, 1707 Frederick Street.

The study of the text book "Better Living" will be concluded by Mrs. Robert Nimmon.

All members and friends are invited to attend.

Happy Harmony Junior Music Club will meet tomorrow at the home of Louise Smith, 810 Gehart Drive.

Alpha Alpha Chapter, BSP will hold a wiener roast and meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Poorbaugh, Corriganville.

A model meeting will be held by Omicron Chapter, BSP tonight at the home of Miss Patricia Golden, 22 Marion Street.

Jaycees Donate $25 To County United Fund

A donation of $25 to the County United Fund was made by the Jaycees and committee chairmen for the year named by Mrs. Edward Eyer at the dinner meeting at the Cumberland Country Club.

Chairmen are Mrs. Howard Brode, civic; Mrs. Arthur Davis, Jr., social; Mrs. Frederick Hill, budget and finance; Mrs. Stanley Goodrich, publicity and scrapbook; Mrs. Wayne Coulter, hospitality; Mrs. Casper Taylor, Jr., membership; Mrs. William Firey, assistant secretary; Mrs. Jack Murray, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Davis, by-laws.

The chairmen were asked to meet with their committees, within the month, at their homes and report to Mrs. Eyer at a meeting, which will be held November 1 at her home, 321 Holland Street.

A report on the convention held here this past weekend will be given at the meeting November 9.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Murray. John Rossi of Hafer House, was guest speaker for the evening. Discussing interior decorating, he stressed that most people buy furnishings that they like without considering how they suit the family personality, other articles or color in the room, then are disappointed that it "does nothing for the room." He contrasted this with how a woman selects a dress, suitable for her and her accessories.

Mr. Rossi gave two demonstrations, one with a tall narrow picture in ice blue, he showed various samples in royal blue, turquoise and gold which complemented it. The second was a Ming Dynasty head and the articles and colors to go with it. A question period followed.

Queen City Mud Hens will meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Honora Burkey, Fairview Avenue.

Society Invited To Institute

Members of the Women's Society of World Service of First EUB Church received an invitation to attend the district institute, which will be held at the Keyser EUB Church, October 19 from 2:30 until 8:30 p.m. Dr. A. J. Faust, missionary on furlough from Nigeria, will be the principal speaker.

Mrs. William Brake conducted the brief business session at the church Mrs. Paul Getz was the leader. The study was based on "Heritage and Horizons in Home Missions," with emphasis on the history of the EUB Church since the American Revolution.

Information on the lives of the church founders was given by Mrs. Bernice Wolford, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Whiting Linaberg, Mrs. Brake and Mrs. E. E. Miller. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Susan Clark and Mrs. Robert Myers read the Scripture Miss Audrea Getz sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the Mizpah benediction, a fellowship hour was held and refreshments served. Approximately 30 members and guests attended.

A dinner will be held by the TNT Club tonight at 6:30 at Nave's Dining Room.

BPW To Have Pre-Election Forum Program Tonight

A "Pre-election Forum" will feature the dinner-meeting of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, which will be held tonight at 5:45 at Central YMCA.

Thomas B. Finan, secretary of state, and J. Glenn Beall, Jr., chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, are to be the speakers, representing the Democrats and Republicans.

The program is under the leadership of the Legislative and Public Affairs committees with Miss Nan Livingstone and Mrs. Mary Jo MacMannis chairmen.

A musical program will be presented by Mrs. Dolores Rowley, music teacher at Allegany High School. It will be both vocal and instrumental.

Mrs. Ethel Northcraft will conduct the business session. A final report on Business and Professional Women's Week will be given by Miss Mary Jo Simpson. Mrs. Jean Cioni also will report on the scholarship card party.

Officers will be installed by the Supreme Forest Woodman Circle, Grove 11, Friday at 8 in the Woodman Hall, 144 Union Street.

HOLY GHOST

They who respond to the call & receive Jesus, should respond to His command to receive the Holy Ghost. Why Wait Longer to Seek the Holy Ghost? Write RAINBOW CHURCH, Los Angeles 5, Cal.

Two Decisions Of Magistrates Are Affirmed

Two Appellants Are Acquitted

Two decisions in motor vehicle violations cases heard by Trial Magistrates of Allegany County were upheld yesterday when appeal cases were heard by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

In the only petit jury case heard yesterday Hugh Stride Sr. of 959 Glenwood Street, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicant.

When tried before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on May 27, Stride was fined $100 and court costs. The defendant represented himself in yesterday's trial. Foreman of the jury was John E. Byrd Jr.

The judge also upheld a decision of Trial Magistrate Frank P. Kelly of Frostburg who found William W. Hyde of that community guilty of exceeding 50 miles per hour. He was fined $15 by Magistrate Kelly.

Hyde was arrested June 21 by State Trooper Bernard Chabot. Myrle S. Smith, Star Route, Flintstone, was found not guilty of reckless driving when his appeal was heard yesterday.

On September 23 Trial Magistrate Russell Nierman, Flintstone, fined the man $10 and $1.45 court costs. Trooper Jack McFarland was arresting officer.

Another appellant found not guilty by the judge was Cranston O. Newman, of 521 Cumberland Street, who had been fined $10 and $1.45 court costs by Trial Magistrate Paul Barnett on a charge of failure to stop and grant the right of way after an accident in May near the subway in South Cumberland.

Newman was arrested by City Police Officers William Norris and James Brown.

Several other appeal cases in eluding motor vehicles violations are scheduled today in Circuit Court.

Beer Is Stolen From Loaded Truck

City police are investigating the theft of eight cases of beer from Cumberland Brewing Company property over the weekend.

The beer was taken from a loaded tractor-trailer spotted at the loading dock after the seal on the vehicle was broken.

The complaint was turned over to the Detective Bureau.

Ridgeley Legion Meets Tonight

A regular meeting of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, will be held at 8 p.m. today in the post home.

K. Albert Wolfe, commander, urges all members to be present. Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Elmer Higgs and William McFadden, chairmen of the house and entertainment committees.

Baltimore Co. Reports Two New Polio Cases

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two more cases of paralytic poliomyelitis were reported to the Baltimore County health department last week, raising the 1960 county total to nine.

Department officials said one of the victims was a 3-year-old boy who had received one inoculation of Salk anti-polio vaccine. The other was a 2½-year-old girl who had received three of the prescribed four shots in the Salk series.

A representative of the Potomac Edison Company will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Bedford Road Optimist Club to be held tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at Nave's Dining Room.

The speaker will be Stanley Oleyneck, director of electric heating in the Cumberland area.

120 Guinea Pigs Die

LONDON (AP)—Of 500 guinea pigs consigned to a weekend flight behind the Iron Curtain for Communist Czechoslovakia's pet shops, only 380 lived to make the trip.

Some mysterious ailment killed 120 as—housed fairly sparsely in 10 to a crate—they awaited a plane at London airport.

Fog Blankets England

LONDON (AP)—Dense fog blanketed all England Monday. A train plowed into buffers at a station at Tilbury and 18 persons were injured. The fog cut visibility to a few yards in many areas, stalled road traffic, delayed commuter trains and closed London airports.

Bloody Tribal Clash

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa (AP)—Four persons were killed and nine wounded in inter-tribal fighting in Zululand Sunday. Police said the clash involved the Hlongwa and Mbululu tribes on one side and the Ndaya tribes on the other.

Bird Roosts Dynamited

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Agriculture Department teams have killed 11 million diach birds by dynamiting their roosts. The diach is similar to a robin but is second only to the locust as East Africa's biggest crop eater.

The earth's axis points in the same direction continuously.

Wild birds do not sing more than eight or 10 weeks in the year.

THE CLEAN LOOK of action scores the style coup of '61!

Buick sets off '61's styling excitement with a new trim, clean look, hailed by fashion leaders and new car buyers as the taste-setter of the year!

"Look! Nothing dips, nothing bends, nothing bulges!" ... "Those clean, flowing lines are simply elegant!" ... "The Clean Look of action? It really has it!"

Those are the kinds of things people are saying about the new Buick. For Buick's talk about styling is stirring up a storm. With just that alone, Buick would be out front for '61; but Buick has never been content to do things by half. So underneath its body beautiful is a new Wildcat V-8 with new gas savings and go; a new Turbine Drive with new bite (standard on all full-size Buicks); a new Hide-Away drive shaft for flatter floors; a new Safety-X frame that lowers the sills, quiets the ride.

That isn't all. This Buick is built around an all-new Comfort Zone. Though trimmer and sleeker outside, Buick has more head-room, leg-room, shoulder-room inside. The seating's softer. And as you drive, Control Arm Suspension smooths the bumps, flattens the corners.

But no words or picture can do this Buick justice; you have to drive it to appreciate it. Come to your Buick dealer's—and add to the comments!

Firm Again Protests City Bid Award

Representatives of a Baltimore firm appeared before the Mayor and Council yesterday to ask that an order for the purchase of a loader for the Street Department, approved at last week's session, be rescinded and new bids sought.

The men, Ronald Athey, local representative of the Chesapeake Supply and Equipment Company of Baltimore, and Bob Thompson, of the firm's Baltimore office, said they felt awarding of the bid was "arbitrary" and constituted "one-man rule."

Council last week approved an order submitted by Commissioner

the purchase of the loader from the John C. Louis Company of Baltimore.

The Louis firm bid was for $15,500, while the Chesapeake Company's bid was for $14,784.83, which the two men pointed out was more than $700 less than their competitors.

Both Thompson and Athey said they felt their firm's bid was "fair and equitable," and that claims by Commissioner Long of standardization of equipment were only theoretical because of the age of other Louis Company machinery the Street Department uses.

In answer to the complaint,

Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming said further action could not be taken because of the absence of Commissioner Long (he is attending a National Safety Congress meeting in Chicago).

Fleming also said it is Council policy to accept the recommendation of the individual commissioners on the purchase of materials and equipment.

Last week, Long told the Louis Company representatives that aside from the opportunity of standardization, "We purchase what we think is the best product at the price."

In other action, council referred to the city engineer bids from five firms for the removal of property on Mechanic and Centre streets in connection with the widening of Franklin Street.

A complaint also was registered by Mrs. Mary E. Davidson, 407 Oldtown Road, regarding the keeping of chickens by residents of South street. The stench from the chicken yards, she stated, aggravated a respiratory condition with which she is afflicted.

Milton L. Sarver, 324 Baltimore Avenue, submitted a bid of $300 for four parcels of land in the Ridgedale Addition. The bid was referred to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner for recommendation.

Almanac Sees Good Inauguration Weather

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Weather for Inauguration Day in Washington, D.C., Jan. 20 will be pleasant. That is the word in Baer's Agricultural Almanac, whose word is gospel to some folks hereabouts.

The almanac, which correctly forecast far in advance the inauguration weather for both ceremonies involving President Eisenhower, makes no forecast on the outcome of the presidential election.

Ridgeley Seeking Bids For New Post Office

Postmaster Ursula A. Dougherty said yesterday she has been advised by the office of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield that the Post Office Department is now asking for bids to build and lease to the department the new post office for Ridgeley. Closing date for the bids is November 17, 1960.

"This proposed new building" Postmaster Dougherty said, "will replace existing facilities located at 29 Knobley Street."

"Specifications call for a structure containing approximately 1,426 square feet, with an outside loading platform and adequate space for parking and truck maneuvering."

Postmaster Dougherty said she has been advised that the Post Office Department will enter into a lease agreement with the successful bidder which will run for ten years, with renewal options.

Bodo Went Home

BREMEN, Germany (UPI)—A 15-year-old boy was back home in Berlin Sunday after a frustrating attempt to run away.

The boy, identified by police only as "Bodo S.," hid for days in the trunk of an automobile on a ship bound for the United States. When enough time had gone by for the ship to have reached New York, a stiff and sore Bodo crawled out on deck.

The ship was still in Bremen Harbor. Bodo went home.

Baltimore St. Widening Asked By Fleming

The possibility of incorporating the widening of the northwest corner of the Baltimore-Mechanic Street intersection with the street work that is currently being done in that neighborhood was advanced by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming yesterday.

The commissioner explained to Council that the widening of the corner would materially assist in the flow of traffic onto Baltimore Street, and that it would probably result in a saving to the city if the project could be completed along with the removal of the "hump" at the Western Maryland crossing.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said a preliminary study had been completed some time ago in which it was found that the corner could be cut back a 20-foot radius without the need of acquiring property for the project. Such a cut-back, he added, would provide a minimum sidewalk of six and a half feet.

Council approved a motion by Commissioner Fleming recommending to the Street Commissioner that the work be incorporated with the current Baltimore Street improvement.

Letters requesting the oiling, tarring or light surfacing of Blackiston Avenue were received at yesterday's Council session. The letters, from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spicer and Mrs. Chester Brant, were ordered filed.

Council approved the issuance of a check for $20 to Harold Riggleman, 816 Columbia Avenue, for a water meter at a Trest Avenue location that was never installed.

The city engineer submitted a report on the cost of two street improvement projects. Total cost for the resurfacing of Williams Street from Park to Maryland Avenue was placed at $3,249.80, and for Oldtown Road, from Grand Avenue to Hill Top Drive, at $4,217.62.

Two ordinances were approved at yesterday's session. One dealt with the control of used car lots within the city limits, and the other spelled out the definition of "water company." The latter was done at the request of Water Commissioner G. Ray Light, who said it was requested in order to clarify the sale of water to authorized groups or organizations in neighboring communities.

City To Take Action On Banners

City officials yesterday indicated an order will be adopted in the near future which will prohibit the placement of banners across city streets.

The Retail Merchants Association wrote the Mayor and Council suggesting an ordinance be adopted prohibiting such displays, particularly in the downtown business area.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner, asked that the association's letter be acknowledged, and the business unit advised that a decision will be made in the near future. Commissioner G. Ray Light said he is in favor of banning such displays, while Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming said the new street lights being erected on Baltimore Street will not permit the stringing of banners across the street.

The Mayor and Council was advised that the Helen Miller Memorial in Constitution Park will be dedicated next Sunday at 3 p. m. Former Judge George Henderson, chairman of the memorial fund, invited the Council to participate in the brief ceremony.

Council had set aside a portion of land in the park for the memorial at the request of the Garden Club of Cumberland, while that organization underwrote the beautification of the spot in memory of the first president of the Garden Club.

A request from Barracks 1125, Veterans of World War I, for the sale of tags next Saturday was approved. Also approved was payment of $1,000 to John W. Rollins Jr. and William Torkington, certified public accountants, for the auditing of city accounts for the year ended June 30.

Boy Shot While Hunting Sent To Baltimore

Brady Dennison Hill Jr., 17, of Cresaptown, was transferred to University Hospital in Baltimore yesterday from Sacred Heart Hospital.

The youth was critically injured when shot in the neck while squirrel hunting on a farm near his home last Friday.

Maryland State Police who investigated said the Cresaptown youth was struck with a bullet discharged by Steven G. Taylor of 69 Prospect Square.

Police said Taylor informed them that he thought Hill's olive drab hat was a squirrel and he blasted away with his .22 calibre rifle.

When Taylor heard the outcry of the Cresaptown youth, he ran to his side to render assistance.

Bridge Tournament Attracts 150 Tables Here Over Weekend

The annual Mason-Dixon bridge tournament sponsored by the Western Maryland Bridge Association Saturday and Sunday in the Cumberland Country Club saw 150 tables in play.

The open and mixed pairs championships were decided Sunday while Saturday night the Mason-Dixon game was held. The open pairs championship for the Old Export trophy ended in a two-day tie. They were Mrs. A. J. Feigus, city, and sixth, Mrs. Wallace A. Wright, Washington, and Lewis Tubbs, Arlington, Va., and Richard Hunt and Roland Hung, both of Greensburg, Pa.

Third were Sidney Lawrence and Irving Farber, both of Pittsburgh; fourth, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. A. P. Isenberg, both of Ebensburg, Pa.; fifth, Mrs. James Ferguson, Belle Vernon, Pa., and this city, won the mixed pairs championship while second was Pa., and H. Chandler, Tampa, Fla., won the Mason-Dixon special game Saturday night.

Qualifying rounds for the open pairs even found Mrs. Harper and Bottorf getting the top scores, with Mrs. Norman W. Taylor and Hugo Keller, both of this city, coming in second.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Castelle, hardt, both of Baltimore.

Red Sailor 'Voted' For Freedom

Victor Jaanimets is a sailor. He comes from Estonia.

Jaanimets was a member of the picked crew of the Baltika, the ship that brought Khrushchev to the U. S. so he could attempt to tear down the United Nations.

The Baltika's crewmen were given shore leave — but in groups, never alone. The reason given was that they would have to protect themselves from thugs. The real reason was that the Russians feared that some of their slaves would escape if they were not watched.

Victor Jaanimets escaped anyhow. He ran in one door of a department store and out another before his escort crew knew what was up.

Victor Jaanimets wasn't having any of Khrushchev's fancy talk about how the Russians and their satellites have all they need. He knew better. So he chose freedom.

In choosing, he joined the flood tide of refugees that each year manages to escape from behind the Iron Curtain, risking heaven only knows what to get to lands where they will have a chance to be free. For every Mitchell or Martin who defects to the Soviet there are literally thousands coming the other way.

It's as effective a way of "voting" for freedom as compared to dictatorship as there is. They get the freedom they seek — except for those who don't make it past the barriers.

Victor Jaanimets made it. He voted for freedom. And he is free.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Campaign-VII

The midpoint in the campaign has been passed and there has been little change in atmosphere. Senator John Kennedy has become somewhat aggressive but he takes too much technical advice from his Harvard colleagues some of whom are doctrinaire liberals; Vice President Richard Nixon continues to move in smooth stride. Never have I witnessed a calmer, less exciting campaign. Apparently Charles Taft's pledge for what is called a clean campaign is being lived up to except by Harry Truman, who is not a candidate. It is also a deadly uninspiring campaign.

Why should anyone want these two very likeable men to slug it out? The answer is quite simple and correct. There has been no debate in a Presidential contest since 1932. We have been suffering from "the same goals but different means." We have been deprived of reason by me-tooism. We have lost all sense of proportion by the cry of the frightened ones that debate, discussion, reason would only supply the enemy with ammunition and give the impression of a divided America.

First, it was Hitler that scared us. He ran in every election while he lived. Even after his ghost was laid, he showed up in American politics. Whoever did not blindly agree with Franklin D. Roosevelt was a pal of Hitler. Whoever did not accept the legislation of Tommy Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen was a black Fascist. Whoever did not believe in the basic assumptions of World War II was a pro-Nazi.

Then came Stalin and for years it was not sound to discuss domestic American affairs or our foreign policy lest it give comfort to Stalin. Senator Joseph McCarthy has been blamed for this atmosphere, but it should be clear that the American people became conscious of the peril of Communism long before McCarthy appeared on the scene. The House Committee on Un-American Activities existed before McCarthy, and Richard Nixon uncovered the Alger Hiss "pumpkin papers" before McCarthy.

In a word, the revulsion to Communism — particularly its American emanation — antedated the McCarthy investigations. Nevertheless, McCarthyism rather than Stalinism became a campaign issue and diverted attention from other domestic questions and from foreign affairs. Harry Truman defeated Thomas E. Dewey not by debate and argument but by a stirring assault upon Republican negativism.

In this campaign, so far, the Republicans continue to pursue a defensive policy. Kennedy attacks the record of the Eisenhower Administration which ends on January 20, 1961. But Nixon does not attack with vehemence the Kennedy inflationary program. From appearances what we face is that if Kennedy is wrong because his inflation may cost $10,000,000,000 a year, Nixon is right because his will cost $9,000,000,000 a year. This Nixon cannot mean.

Of course, as I put it, the statement is exaggerated but is altogether within the spirit of this campaign. Don't step on anyone's toes, lest it lose six votes!

The reason for this is that the campaign does not show clearly who is going to win. The election is not in the bag. It is not a sure thing. The candidates are still playing for bloc votes from wherever they may come. Neither candidate feels sure. None of the experts forecast with assurance. It was when Thomas E. Dewey was sure that Harry Truman set out on his whistle-stop campaign. Nobody believed that Harry Truman could win except his friend, Les Biffle, who had made a preliminary survey. Dewey was practically counting his majority when Truman knocked him out.

In the 1960 campaign, nobody feels sure of anything. Candidates and experts are running frightened. It is just at such a time that one or the other could jar the nation from its complacency by stirring, fighting, inspiring speeches. But such speeches cannot be delivered by one who is afraid of offending anybody. Such speeches can only be delivered by a man who dares to be defeated. The question is: which of the two men is the more courageous?

The candidates seem to be pleased with the "debates" between them. Surely, there are some things that even their best friends do tell. The debates are unconvincing. However, James Farley who is an expert prognosticator always has held that the public mind is usually made up immediately after the conventions and that it generally remains unchanged. If his judgment is correct about the 1960 conventions, the debates are froth on the beer.

"Break Out The Maps Again Mate"

Dixie Organizational Unity Seen With Johnson

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON — On the stump in the South, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas frequently and emphatically extolled his Democratic running-mate as "a man you'd go to the well with."

This description of Sen. Kennedy for a long time mystified just about everybody. Members of the Johnson staff were only able to report that "it was the highest compliment you could pay another man in Johnson City, Texas." But at the end of Johnson's southern safari, the mystery was plumbed by antiquarian research, which was in turn confirmed by Sen. Johnson.

Indian warfare, so remote from most of us, is close to being a living memory for Lyndon Johnson and Johnson City. Still standing there are the stone forts the Senator's grandfather built. And a "man you'd go to the well with" is a man with the coolness and courage that were needed to lead a sortie to the well when the home-place was besieged, and water had run short, and the braves of the war-band were lying in wait for their last attack.

Once you understood it, hearing this echo of the infinitely distant American past was an oddly agreeable experience. It had its own extra shade of modern meaning, too, because of its hint of Johnson's conception of his partnership with Kennedy, which almost no one expected him to accept.

At the mid-point of the campaign, a final assessment of the Kennedy-Johnson partnership is of course impossible. But it is at least possible to make the point, which badly needs to be made, this partnership was one of the wisest decisions of his career.

The wisdom of the offer is proven by Johnson's motives for accepting the offer. He accepted, in fact, because this was the only way to prevent a sanguinary civil war between the North and South within the Democratic party. If he had not accepted, the civil war would have broken out immediately, and Johnson himself would have been cast, quite unavoidably, for the role of the new Jefferson Davis.

Being a nationally-minded man, Johnson did not want that role. Being a nationally-minded man, Kennedy did not want the civil war. In addition, Kennedy did not want to make the kind of extreme, A.D.A.-style campaign that he would have had to make after a north-south civil war had broken out. So the partnership was formed, with the senior politician generously taking the lesser place.

No one who watched Johnson in action in the South could doubt that the partnership has already borne good fruits for the Democrats. The crowds, the speeches and the other surface aspects of his whistle-stopping tour from Virginia down to Florida and across to New Orleans were not the indicative features. To find the indicative features, you had to elbow your way into the two club cars hitched on to the train next to Johnson's own private car.

From early morning until late at night, these two cars were continuously receiving and discharging groups of local politicians ranging in rank from Senators and Governors down to sheriffs and County Commissioners. Johnson worked over them all in the famous Johnson manner. His message for them was, "The bandwagon is rolling; get with us." And they understood the message.

Each day of the trip brought someone into line. In Florida, it was Sen. Spessard Holland. In Alabama, it was the Democratic National Committeeman, Eugene Connor. But the count of individuals mattered much less than the central fact, which is curious indeed.

The fact is that despite the strongest Democratic civil rights plank any party has ever offered, the Democratic organizations of the Southern states are now more solidly united in support of the Democratic ticket than in any national campaign since 1944.

Former Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas is the solitary southern politician of any note who is actively working for Vice President Nixon. Even Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, while himself refusing to endorse the ticket, is not working against it, as he has done before. Instead, he is allowing the Byrd organization county chairmen to go to work for the ticket if they choose.

This result would not have been possible, if the leaders of the Southern Democratic organizations did not scent a chance of victory. The great turn came after the first television debate, and the subsequent indications of a trend in Sen. Kennedy's favor. Hence Sen. Kennedy has made his contribution. But Sen. Johnson is still the real architect of this southern organizational unity, which promises a big pay-off in southern electoral votes.

Even addition of this fifth hour would bring the total television debate time to three hours less than the maximum offered by the networks.

FIFTH DEBATE? — There may be a fifth television debate in the series between the Republican and Democratic Presidential nominees, John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon.

The Democrats originally proposed five in the series, but the Republicans wanted only three. A compromise figure of four was agreed upon.

Now, there is talk that the Republicans have changed their mind and may seek to re-open the matter for a fifth debate to be held on TV only a little more than a week before the November 3 election.

Even addition of this fifth hour would bring the total television debate time to three hours less than the maximum offered by the networks.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WOMEN FOR NIXON — Some ladies out in Danville, Ill., are making the Nixon-for-President people very happy these days. They've started a chain-letter political contribution campaign for the Vice President.

Under the program, called "Kitchen Dollars for Pat," housewives are urged to send a dollar to Nixon's wife to help elect her husband President.

At the same time, each woman is supposed to write a letter to two other ladies she knows, preferably one of them in another state, urging a contribution of a dollar or more to "Pat" for the same purpose.

The idea was of genuine grassroots origin. At first, GOP headquarters in Washington didn't even know about it. In recent days, however, hundreds of letters, and as many dollars, have been pouring in addressed to Pat Nixon, Washington, D. C.

At first, Mrs. Nixon undertook to answer each letter personally. Now, however, the large numbers have caused a form letter to be devised, acknowledging the contribution. However, Mrs. Nixon is determined that each letter shall be answered.

ELECTION YEAR — There are several surefire ways of telling that this is an election year. The last session of Congress, for instance, refused to confirm some

Democrats Fail To Establish Committee To Check Elections

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It looks as if the Democrats really didn't deserve to win this election. They are missing bet after bet, opportunity after opportunity. They are also shirking one obligation, to themselves, to the Republicans, and the public to investigate campaign irregularities and contributions. In the past, the Senate Elections Committee has been constantly on the alert to watch for election finagling.

But not this year. This year not a single official step has been taken by the Senate Elections Committee to probe anything.

Officially, Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island is chairman of this committee. However, Senator Green, the oldest man ever to serve in Congress, is retiring after long and faithful service at the age of 93. He has sent in his resignation as chairman.

So far, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, who heads the Rules Committee under which the Elections Committee operates, has not appointed a successor. In fact, Senator Hayden, now 83, doesn't even seem to know that Green has resigned.

Result: Nothing done.

Note — During the 1956 campaign Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee prepared the most complete dossier in history on campaign contributions. It was of great service in making for clean elections.

Unwatchful Committee

The Democrats also have been loafing on the job in regard to a "watchdog committee" appointed by Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington to keep an eye on the TV networks. This resulted from a change in the law which Congress voted permitting radio and TV stations more latitude regarding political speeches; also from the amazing disclosures of rigged television.

However, the so-called watchdog committee hasn't watched anything. It hasn't even bothered to hold a single session. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas, chairman, has been so busy scuttling around the state of Texas that he has scarcely been in Washington. The other Democrat, Gale McGee of Wyoming, has been barnstorming around his state trying to elect a Democratic Senator. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, the Republican member, has been busy on Nixon's truth squad.

Result: Nothing accomplished.

China Lobby

The China Lobby, which contributed substantially to Vice President Nixon's election campaign in 1950, 1952 and 1956, is one of the most potent and sacrosanct in the United States. It is so sacrosanct few Senators have dared urge its investigation.

During election years it spreads money among candidates like leaves in a November rain. And although inclined to favor Republicans, it has also cultivated some powerful Democrats — among them Louis Johnson, Truman's Secretary of Defense and chief money raiser for Truman in 1948.

The most interesting aspect of the China Lobby is that it is financed almost entirely by American taxpayers, and they don't know it. After Congress votes aid to Chiang Kai-shek, part of the money is siphoned off for propaganda and comes back to the USA to be spent lobbying in order to make sure that more money will be voted to Chiang.

Underlying this, however, is the main objective of the China Lobby, namely, war between the United States and Red China. This, of course, is not stated publicly, but it's recognized that Chiang Kai-shek, despite official boasts to that effect, can never take the Chinese mainland without American help. So the strategy of the Kuomintang and the China Lobby is a holding operation to wait until the United States can be induced or inveigled or dragged into war by a Red Chinese attack either on Formosa or on the offshore islands.

This is why any hard and fast decision to hold Quemoy and Matsu has been studiously avoided by President Eisenhower. It is also why the public has the right to know about campaign contributions made by the Chinese to a man who is now running for president, and who has now taken a stand on Quemoy and Matsu more advanced than the President's.

Chiang's Brothers-In-Law

Heart and nerve center of the China Lobby is the Bank of China in New York City. Its mastermind is the brother-in-law of Chiang Kai-shek, Dr. H. H. Kung, one of the wealthiest men in the world, who lives in Riverdale, New York, where Nixon has dined with him, and whose son Louey went to Los Angeles to contribute to and aid Nixon's campaign in 1960.

Another brother-in-law of the Generalissimo is T. V. Soong, who lives in a palatial home on Long Island which few Americans could afford to keep up.

Neither of the two brothers-in-law has lived in China for about 15 years except for intermittent visits. Dr. Kung left China shortly after the gold scandal of March 1944, when he was ousted from the Cabinet and from the governorship of the Central Bank because of a leak regarding the scheduled increase in the price of gold. This leak made millions for certain Chinese speculators close to the Chiang government. And as a result Chiang not only ousted his brother-in-law, but beheaded a minor bank official, Kao Ping-fang. The latter died shouting that he was the scapegoat for higher-ups who had grown rich on the scandal and were being protected.

Dr. Kung's knowledge of American politics is almost as astute as his knowledge of Chinese finance; and well before he entered the Truman Cabinet, Louis Johnson had been picked by Kung as his personal attorney.

On the Republican side, Kung has chiefly cultivated Vice President Nixon and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, ranking Republican on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee which votes money for Formosa.

Oil And Anti-Trust

By Leslie Gould

The Anti-Trust Problems in the Oil Industry' is the subject of a talk by Robert A. Bicks — the 33-year-old acting head of the Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department.

The talk is to be before the N.Y. Society of Security Analysts, whose members attempt a short as well as long term evaluation of securities.

More to the point would be a vice versa talk — The Oil Industry's Problems with Anti-Trust — with stress on the division lawyers' often unusual interpretations of the Sherman and Clayton Acts.

This is particularly pertinent at this time, for the oil stocks have been in a bear market for nearly two years, partly because of Anti-Trust activities.

A case in point is the recent Tulsa action, in which 29 companies — including the biggest — were indicted. Anti-Trust charged the companies with conspiracy in raising prices at the time of the Suez crisis.

The major point in the Government's case was that for a subsidiary or affiliated company to talk with the parent or for a parent company to talk with a subsidiary on the matter of prices was conspiracy and a violation of the Anti-Trust laws.

This was beyond the other charge of conspiracy among the oil companies on prices. More than the oil industry was upset by such Anti-Trust thinking.

Mr. Bicks and his staff had their ears pinned back on this. Federal Judge Royce H. Savage, in throwing out the case after only 11 days of testimony, said: "It is my judgment that the evidence does not rise above the level of suspicion."

"I think I should say simply that, after giving consideration to the evidence, I have an absolute conviction, personally, that the defendants are not guilty."

A criminal case cannot be appealed by the Government.

If Judge Savage had ruled otherwise the whole American corporate setup could be upset. In effect, the Anti-Trust lawyers took a position a parent — father or mother — could not talk with a son or daughter about baby sitting fees. A ridiculous situation, but this is the way the Department is thinking these days.

The Government placed more than 600 documents in evidence, including a batch of telephone calls, none of which it could show had any connection with the price changes. One batch, it turned out, were invitations from one executive in Canada to a duck shoot.

To give an idea of the expense and trouble the 29 companies were put to in defending this case, the Anti-Trust lawyers took 54,000 documents from the files of one company. In this company's case not one of the documents showed any discussion in advance with another company.

In another case against the oil industry — this one before the days of Mr. Bicks — the Department of Justice picked the 1952 election year to claim certain companies charged excessive prices for oil sold to foreign countries under the Marshall Plan.

Seven years after the charge was made and after a long trial, the Federal Court of Appeals upheld a District Court's rejection of the Anti-Trust case in these words:

"The defendants' proof showed beyond contradiction that the prices . . . were in fact the lowest competitive market prices."

In the field of mergers, Anti-Trust is now following a policy of threatening injunctions to block a deal, even though admitting the Government's case may be weak. This it did in the proposed Texaco-Superior Oil merger. Rather than go through years of litigation with a resulting long period of uncertainty which would disrupt the operations of the two companies, the merger was called off.

In another case — the acquisition in the open market of nearly 15 per cent of the stock of Union Oil Co. of California by Phillips Petroleum Co. — The Anti-Trust is sitting on the sidelines. It says the reason is the Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction because of another matter where Union is only remotely involved. Under the youthful Mr. Bicks, Anti-Trust is setting a record of actions surpassing the New Deal days of Thurman Arnold. This is one of the reasons why Mr. Bicks has been unable to win Senate confirmation of his appointment as Anti-Trust head.

Not All Skin Lesions Can Be Planed Off

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Dermabrasion is a recognized treatment for various unsightly skin conditions. Included on the list are disfiguring scars on the face, wrinkles in persons over 40, pre-cancerous skin lesions, and certain birthmarks. A steel wire brush, attached to a high speed electric motor, provides the instrument.

The procedure can be done in the office or hospital. The skin is anesthetized, usually with a freezing agent, and the brush is placed on the surface. The upper layers are planed off by moving the machine slowly in a shaving stroke.

Improvement follows in 95 per cent of the cases, provided the lesions are located in the upper layers of the skin. Defects that extend into the deeper layers may require reabrasion, although in situations such as these, the physician tends to recommend plastic surgery.

Dermabrasion has its limitations and disappointment is in store for those who look for miracles. Expect improvement in appearance, not a cure. The scars not always possible to plane them off in one treatment. Several may be needed, usually at intervals of five to six months.

Wrinkles in persons over 40 are improved greatly. The dull grayish-brown skin is replaced by firm, more youthful, non-wrinkled skin. Brown spots on the hands and face in older persons respond to the machine. These lesions are worth removing when they act up because they are considered pre-cancerous. Small tattoos are eliminated easily but surgery is needed for the larger designs.

The planed area heals promptly but in brunets is darker than usual for several months thereafter. Others develop little white spots that can be evacuated with a needle or erased with a pumice stone.

After class, sure enough, he sidled up to her and said, "Teacher, won't you please smile for me again? I like it when you smile."

Inordinately pleased, the new teacher gave him her broadest grin.

"I knew it," whooped the lad triumphantly. "You look just like a cute chipmunk!"

Iowa Replaces Mississippi As Nation's No.1 Grid Team

Ohio State Plunges To 10th Place

Syracuse Moves To 3d Position, Middies Are 4th

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Big Ten kingpin Iowa replaced Mississippi Monday as the nation's No. 1 major college football team in the weekly ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Iowa, which defeated Wisconsin, 28-21, last Saturday for its fourth straight victory without a loss, received 10 first place votes compared to Mississippi's 16, but picked up enough second and third place strength to take over the top spot by a scant six points.

Mississippi, unbeaten and untied in five starts, was rated second, 299 points to Iowa's 305, with defending national champion Syracuse, third, up a notch from last week, Syracuse had 277 points.

Ohio State Slips
Syracuse moved up at the expense of Ohio State, second last week but 10th this week because of a 24-21 loss to Purdue. Navy moved up a notch from fifth to fourth, Minnesota advanced from eighth to fifth, Missouri and Baylor held on the sixth and seventh, respectively. Purdue, off the list a week ago, gained eighth place and Washington advanced from 13th to ninth to round out this week's top 10.

Texas, ninth a week ago because of a convincing victory over once-powerful Oklahoma, tumbled completely off the list this week, along with Alabama and North Carolina State, 16th and 17th, respectively a week ago. All three schools didn't receive a single vote this week.

Syracuse and Navy were the only other schools receiving first place votes this week beside Iowa and Mississippi. Eight of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI rating board voted Syracuse as the No. 1 team, while one voted for Navy.

Six Newcomers To List
Arkansas, Kansas, Tennessee, Auburn, Rice and Duke were newcomers this week to the second 10. The Razorbacks, Baylor's No. 1 rival for the South-west Conference title, were 11th this week because of their 24-20 victory over Texas, while Wisconsin held on to 12th despite its loss to Iowa.

Michigan State, 21-0 winner over Notre Dame, moved up one position to 13th, Kansas, which battled Oklahoma to a 13-13 tie, was 14th, Tennessee, which whipped Alabama 20-7, was 15th, Michigan was 16th, Clemson, 11th a week ago, was 17th this week after taking a 19-17 loss to Maryland, and Auburn, New Mexico State, Rice and Duke were tied for 18th to round out the second 10.

Among the top four rated schools, Iowa and Mississippi faces the toughest hurdles this Saturday. The Hawkeyes meeting Purdue and the Rebels tangling with Arkansas.

In the other pairings for this Saturday among the top 10, it will be Syracuse vs West Virginia, Navy vs Pennsylvania, Minnesota vs. Michigan, Missouri vs Iowa State, Baylor vs Texas A&M, Washington vs Oregon State and Ohio State vs Wisconsin.

Orioles Release Four Players To Rochester Farm

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles Monday announced the outright release of catcher Valmy Thomas and outfielders Albie Pearson, Al Nagel and Fred Valentine to their Rochester farm club in the International League.

Thomas, obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies, batted .063 in eight games this season. Pearson, rookie of the year for the Washington Senators in 1958, hit .244 in 48 games for the Orioles. His six RBIs included a grand slam home run against the New York Yankees.

All four spent most of the 1960 season with Miami.

Richards Voted Top Manager In Junior Loop

Lavagetto Is 2nd In Annual UPI Poll

By FRED DOWN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Paul Richards, under whom the Baltimore Orioles developed into an amazing pennant threat, was named Monday as the American League's "manager of the year" by United Press International.

A 51-year old native of Waxahachie, Tex., Richards predicted last spring that the Orioles might be a threat and then made good by keeping them in the thick of a three-cornered fight with the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox until the closing weeks of the season.

The Orioles didn't drop out of the picture until they lost a four-game series to the Yankees in mid-September but their second-place finish was their highest since returning to the major leagues in 1954.

Richards, who since 1954 has been mainly responsible for the steady improvement of the Orioles, received 14 votes from the UPI's 24-man board of American League experts. Cookie Lavagetto, who led the Washington Senators to a fifth-place finish, was second with seven votes, and Casey Stengel, under whom the New York Yankees won their 10th pennant in 12 years, was third with three votes.

Few managers ever have made such a strong pennant bid with so inexperienced a team as Richards handled this year. His infield of Jim Gentile, rookies Marv Breeding and Ron Hansen and Brooks Robinson was virtually a rookie quartet yet they repaid Richards' confidence in them with a strong showing all the way.

The Orioles also had a basic weakness in offensive power, lost the services of catcher Gus Triandos for an important part of the season and had the youngest starting pitching staff in baseball. Richards, long noted as a brilliant handler of pitchers, aided in the development of such young stars as Chuck Estrada, Steve Barber, Milt Pappas, Jack Fisher and Jerry Walker. Estrada, a rookie right-hander, wound up as the league's biggest winner with 18 victories.

FORT KNOX, Ky. (UPI)—Two of the American League's most outstanding young ballplayers, pitcher Bill Stafford of the New York Yankees and shortstop Ron Hansen of the Baltimore Orioles, became rookies of another sort Monday when they were sworn into the U.S. Army.

Houston, New York Granted N.L. Franchises For 1962

League To Have Ten Teams; Texans Plan $15 Million Park

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Houston and New York City were granted National League franchises Monday in line with an expansion program to 10 teams effective for the 1962 season.

The vote to make Houston and New York the ninth and 10th teams in the National League's first structural change since 1900 was unanimous.

The announcement, made by National League President Warren Giles, followed a morning session of the league's club owners. The resolution on Houston and New York was made by Walter O'Malley who, ironically, had moved the Dodgers out of Brooklyn to Los Angeles in October of 1957, two months after Horace Stoneham had taken his Giants from New York to San Francisco.

"The resolution was enthusiastically accepted," said O'Malley. "There was no concerted objection although earlier there had been some feeling that along with Houston, the Dallas-Fort Worth territory might be more feasible than New York."

Termed Giant Step
Giles, who said the club owners' action will be finalized at the major league's annual convention in St. Louis in December, termed the addition of New York and Houston as a "giant progressive step toward bringing major league baseball to all four corners of the country."

"To all intents and purposes," Giles added, "we are now a 10-team league, with operations beginning in 1962. There are certain specifications the new clubs will have to meet, but I have no doubt they will meet the qualifications. I don't anticipate any obstacles."

Giles pointed out that two points must be cleared to pave the way for New York's and Houston's entry. First, a rule must be changed to make New York, currently American League territory, available to the National League. This the NL expects to do as soon as possible.

Second, the Houston Sports Association, recipients of the Houston franchise, must acquire the territorial rights from the Houston Buffs of the American Association.

Plan New Stadium
The syndicate representing Houston numbers 13 and includes Craig Cullinan Jr., George Kirksey, Judge Roy Hefheinz, K. S. Adams and R. E. Smith. Cullinan, Kirksey and Judge Hefheinz were present at the meeting and presented plans of their newly proposed $15 million stadium which they said could be ready by the start of the 1962 season.

The New York syndicate, which includes Mrs. Charles Payson, M. Donald Grant, Dwight Davis Jr., William Simpson and G. H. Walker Jr., was not represented.

"Regarding New York," Giles said, "Commissioner Ford Frick has assured us that if we propose a rule to open the New York territory for a National League franchise, and if the American League should oppose it, he will cast the deciding vote in our favor."

Asked whether the American League, which is to meet Oct. 26, expects to move into Los Angeles, Giles said he did not know.

"We did not discuss the American League," he said, "but I understand that the commissioner feels the same way about Los Angeles as he does about New York."

Walter O'Malley, owner of the Dodgers, said he would not oppose the AL's reported move into Los Angeles.

Ridgeley Falls From Top Berth In "A" Ratings

Masontown Gridders Capture Leadership

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Masontown took over first place in the second official West Virginia Class AA high school football ratings released Monday by the scholastic Activities Commission.

Weirton retained its lead in Class AAA and Mt. Hope, tied last week with Williamson, took over sole possession of the top spot in Class AA.

Complete records were not available for either Weirton or Masontown's out-of-state opponents, however, commission Secretary Gordon Elison said.

Weirton had a 13.58 rating and Elison said the figure probably will be higher when additional information becomes available on Steubenville, Ohio, Catholic, one of the Red Riders' victims.

Defending champion Bluefield is second in Triple-A followed by Clarksburg Victory, East Bank, Nitro, Morgantown, Grafton, Stoneham Jackson and once-beaten Logan and Parkersburg in that order.

Williamson has second place in Class AA. The other contenders are Milton, Sissonville, Stoco, Roosevelt, Wilson, Philippi, Gauley Bridge, Charles Town, Monongah, Ravenswood and New Martinsville.

Ridgeley is a close second to Masontown in Class A followed by Alderson, Harpers Ferry, Crum, Paden City, Barrackville and Putnam Buffalo.

Some of the brick streets in Charleston, W. Va., which were paved in 1872, are still being used today.

Elorde Winner, Retains Crown

MANILA (UPI)—Gabriel "Flash" Elorde of the Philippines, who holds the world junior lightweight title Monday night with a unanimous decision over struggling Sakuji Shinozawa of Japan.

A crowd of 25,000 in Rizal Stadium, most of them rooting for Elorde, watched the champ make a punching bag out of the challenger.

As early as the second and third rounds, the fans were shouting for a knockout. But Elorde, who hadn't fought since he retained his world crown by knocking out Harold Gomes in San Francisco in August, just could not get over the kayo punch.

Referee Felipe Hernandez scored it 60-47 in favor of Elorde. Judges Alfredo Quizon and Rafael Torrest saw it 60-51 and 60-52; and United Press International had it 60-45.

Wagner Expresses Delight Over NY's Return To National

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner Monday expressed "delight" at New York's return to the National League and personally pledged that construction of a new stadium for the team in suburban Flushing Meadow "will be accelerated."

Wagner was joined in celebration of the N.L. vote in Chicago Monday by William A. Shea, chairman of the mayor's special committee on baseball, who called this "the brightest day for New York baseball fans in the nearly three years since we lost the Giants and Dodgers."

Wagner foresaw no trouble at all in getting final approval for the 55,000-seat stadium from the board of estimate, the city's ruling body on financial matters.

Plans for the stadium already have been drawn up and approved by the board of estimate at a cost of approximately $600,000. The total cost of the stadium is expected to be $15 million, to be financed entirely by private purchase of bonds.

All Soccer League is Stated To Resume Today

Bruce, Beall Angle For 3d Wins In Row

Bulldogs To Visit Flintstone; Valley Faces Mountaineers

Idle for the past week, teams of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League resume play today with Valley High's defending champions (1-1) slated to play the Beall Bulldogs at Frostburg while the Flintstone Aggies (0-2) host the Bruce High School Bulldogs.

Beall and Bruce are tied for the league leadership with 2-0 records. They are slated to tangle Friday at Westernport.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers, out of the championship picture since 1951, have beaten Flintstone, 4-2, and Mt. Savage, 3-0, while Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs, who shared the title with Valley High in 1958, have blanked the Black Knights, 2-0, and also whitewashed Mt. Savage, 5-0.

Valley has engaged in three games, beating Flintstone, 4-0, losing to Bruce, 2-0, while tying Mt. Savage, 2-2. The Aggies have fallen before Beall and Valley.

Today's game in Frostburg is scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p. m., with Clifton Van Roby and Ray Ralston as the officials. The Bruce at Flintstone contest is set for 3:30 p. m., and will be handled by George Shaffner and Jack Burner.

Keyser-Southern Contest On Friday Set For 7:30 EST

Keyser High School will play Southern High School in a Potomac Valley Conference football game Friday at 7:30 p. m., EST, in Oakland instead of 8 o'clock as previously announced, according to Dick Travis, athletic director of Southern High School.

It will be the final home game of the season for Southern and the Highlanders' third game under the lights which were installed at Oakland this season. The new lighting system is most satisfactory, Travis reports.

Southern has won its last two games at home, defeating Northern, 26-13, and Kingwood, 26-7, and now owns a 4-2 record.

The Highlanders would like to fill an open date October 28.

Their final game is set for Nov. 4 at Petersburg.

Wayne Harper plunged for the extra point after Jim Brady's five-yard off tackle touchdown run to give Beall High School's junior varsity football team a 13-12 victory over the Romney High Jayvees yesterday at Romney.

It was the first win of the campaign for Coach Bob Chaney's eleven which has lost two games and played one tie.

Harper put Beall out in front in the first period with a 30-yard off tackle thrust for the initial score. Romney, however, knotted the count at 6-6 in the second period on a 35-yard pass play executed by Wade and Wagoner. Halfback Glover sent Romney to the fore at 12-6 early in the final period by running seven yards to paydirt. Brady's touchdown gave Beall the tie score and Harper's conversion decided the game.

The lineups:

Pos.	Beall (13)	Romney (12)
LE	B. Baker	Wagoner
LT	Powell	Rockwell

Touchdowns: Beall—W. Harper (30-yard run); Jim Brady (5-yard run). Romney—Wagoner (pass from Wade); Glover (7-yard run).

Point after touchdown: Beall—W. Harper (plunge).

Officials: High, Helman and Graham.

Stengel Decision Scheduled Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees have called a press conference for Tuesday at which time they will announce whether or not Casey Stengel will remain as manager for 1961.

Yankee officials gave no hint as to what the decision was other than to reveal it will be announced at a formal press conference in a New York hotel Tuesday.

A's To Get Hurler

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—General manager Parke Carroll of the Kansas City Athletics announced Monday that the A's have completed a conditional deal with the Milwaukee Braves for a left-handed pitcher.

Bob Hartman, 23, who was with Louisville of the American Association, a Milwaukee farm club, will report to the A's spring training drills.

If the A's management is satisfied with his performance, Hartman will be retained and if he does not make the grade he will be returned to Louisville.

Dr. Jones Says Polio Program Is Lagging

OAKLAND — The polio immunization program is lagging, Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer reports. He said many who appeared in August and September for immunization treatment, following the polio scare, did not return for follow-up shots.

Dr. Jones said the Health Department urges all who received the initial shots to get their next shot in the series as soon as possible, if the first shot was given a month or more ago.

Immunization clinics are held in the Health Department office here each Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; in the health center at Friendsville each Monday, 1 to 3 p.m.; Grantsville, Tuesdays from 1 to 3 p.m., and in Kitzmiller, Thursdays from 1 to 3 p.m.

Although the worst of the season probably is over, Dr. Jones suggested that now is the time to get the immunization treatment in order to be safe for next year's season.

Nothing less than a full course of three shots is considered as adequate protection against the disease, he said. The fourth or booster shot is recommended a year or more after the third shot.

CORNELIA STABLER

Cornelia Stabler Appears Tonight In Civic Program

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Community Programs, Inc., will present Cornelia Stabler, character actress in Compton Hall at Frostburg State Teachers College this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Rev. Martin Davidson, president of the group, said her appearance scheduled last July was cancelled due to the death of a daughter.

A native of Pennsylvania, she received early dramatic training at Swarthmore College and took graduate work at Columbia University. She also attended Theodor Irvine's Studio for the Theatre in New York City.

Known as "The One Woman Theatre," Miss Stabler has written and acted for radio on the major networks, directed summer theatre and appeared in television. Monologues have been her favorite medium.

Miss Stabler is the authoress as well as the actress of her character sketches.

Twiggtown 4-H Elects

TWIGGTOWN — The October meeting of the Twiggtown 4-H Club was held at the home of Thomas Robinette, Oliver Belt Road. Ronald Myers had charge of leading the pledge.

New officers are Beverly Robinsonette, president; Robert Rinker, vice president; Ronald Myers, secretary; Dennis Nelson, assistant secretary-treasurer; Joanne Barger, treasurer; Mary Ann Davies, reporter; Sally Rinker and Donna Baker, song and recreation leaders.

The planning committee includes Sally Rinker, Ronald Myers, Beverly Robinsonette, Geraldine May, Robert Rinker and Mary Ann Davies. They will meet today at 4 p.m. in the home of Perrin Rinker, Williams Road.

The next meeting will be held at the residence of Wade Rice, Brice Hollow Road.

Lonaconing GOP Announces Rally

LONACONING — The GOP club rally will be held October 20 at 8 p.m. at the Lonaconing Republican Club.

Charles "Mac" Mathias will be the speaker. A dance with "Jim's Trio" music will be held following the rally.

Registrations At WVU Break 1948 Record

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University registrations for the first semester of the 1960-61 school year broke a 12-year-old record, Registrar J. Everett Long said Sunday.

Long said that as of the end of September, 6,788 students registered for this year's first semester, topping by 53 students the previous first-semester high set in 1948.

Leading the 1959-60 enrollment is the WVU College of Arts and Sciences with 2,604 students. Registrations in other colleges and schools at the university range from 1,113 in engineering down to 28 in nursing.

The total includes 1,811 freshmen, 1,402 sophomores, 1,169 juniors and 1,027 seniors, in addition to professional, graduate and special students. The student body includes 4,978 men and 1,810 co-eds.

The present enrollment climaxes a steady increase since the university's post-war low of 4,421 students in the first semester of the 1951-52 school year.

Forest Ranger Is Transferred

PARSONS — Floyd Wiles is being transferred to Parsons as district forest ranger to replace Jack Godden, who was assigned to the staff of the White Mountain National Forest supervisor at Lonaconia, N.H. Both will take over late in October.

Wiles is a native of Youngstown, Ohio, and was graduated from Penn State University in 1954, majoring in forestry. Since then he has worked on the Allegheny National Forest at Sheffield and Bradford, Pa.; George Washington National Forest at Covington, Va., and in the regional forester's office in Upper Darby.

He will move into the government ranger dwelling with his wife and three children.

Degree Staff Meets Tonight

LONACONING — The degree staff of Morning Star Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet following the meeting of the Pythian Sunshine Girls tonight.

All members are urged by Mrs. Nellie Miller to be present. The Victory Council No. 1, Pythian Sunshine Girls, will meet today at 7 p.m. instead of Thursday evening with Miss Ruth Ann Lewis, Royal Princess, presiding officer.

B&O Is Asked To Investigate Crossing Block

Commissioner Cites Reporting Procedure

The City of Cumberland has asked the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to investigate a Police Department report of a lengthy blockage of the Baltimore Street crossing early yesterday morning.

The request for an investigation and report was made by Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming in a letter to R. J. Cannon, superintendent of the B & O's Cumberland Division.

Mr. Fleming said he received a report yesterday from Lt. W. E. Shank, who is in charge of the 1 to 9 a. m. platoon, which stated in part:

"At 5:58 a. m., an Eastbound B&O passenger train blocked Baltimore, Union and Harrison streets. The Baltimore Street tracks were cleared at 6:44 a. m."

"The B. & O. did not notify us of the blockage. We notified the Fire Department so their vehicles could be routed around the crossings."

"Chief Train Dispatcher H. D. Keesacker and Yardmaster (Elwood C.) Cole were on duty at this time and they reported they had no orders to notify us when the tracks were blocked."

Mr. Fleming asked Mr. Cannon to check into and report on the matter.

He said it was "our understanding that all personnel of the B. & O. responsible for keeping the crossings open were instructed to notify the Police Department as to the blocking of the crossings."

Following a conference here in May, it was announced that an agreement had been reached to reduce the blocking of the crossing to a minimum and for the notification to the Police Department when unavoidable blocking occurred, so steps could be taken to reroute such vital traffic as fire trucks.

Chemists Will Hear Educator

Dr. Mary L. Willard of the chemistry department at Pennsylvania State University will be the guest speaker at a meeting Thursday of the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club and will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

In addition to her duties at Penn State, Dr. Willard has had extensive experience as a consultant to government and private industry.

She has special experience in the fields of fibre microscopy and in the use of microscopy techniques in criminology.

Jewish Welfare Unit Will Elect Eight

The election of eight persons to two-year terms on the Board of Directors of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland will be held this evening during a meeting at 8:15 p. m. in the vestry of B'er Chayim Temple.

The nominating committee announces that the names placed on the slate are as follows:

Morris Baron, Robert Kaplan, George Ossip, Robert Gerson, Paul Steinberger, Richard Schwab, Mrs. Serena Winer, Marvin Kaplan, Dr. S. G. Wiseman, Dr. Paul Castelle, Milton Gerson and Harry Stern.

Those members of the Board elected last year to serve until the fall of 1961 include Mark Lazarus, Max Spear, Robert Goldfine, Sander Lewine, Dr. S. M. Jacobson, Leonard Schwab and Edward Pallick.

Methodist Churches Plan Leader Training Course

Methodists churches of the Cumberland Sub-District of the Hagerstown District will conduct a leadership training program next month, according to Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, who will serve as dean of the course.

The school will be held on November 2, 8, 9, 15 and 16 from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. at Centre Street Methodist Church.

Mrs. Louis P. Chastain will lead the opening period of the school and Rev. John Park, pastor of Centerville (Pa.) Methodist Church, will conclude the school on November 16 with devotions. After the closing session, Mrs. Fay Mansfield will be in charge of a coffee hour and evaluation period.

Five different courses will be offered to interested persons of all faith. One course, "The Use of the Bible in Teaching Youth," is for youth teachers, counselors and parents. This course will be in charge of Dr. A. Merritt Dietrich, executive secretary of the Baltimore Conference Board of Education, assisted by Mrs. Robert Nimmon of Grace Methodist Church.

"Christian Beliefs" will be conducted by Rev. Robert Current, pastor of First Methodist Church, Frostburg. This is a general course of interest to all officers and teachers and presents basic Christian doctrines.

The third class will be under the guidance of Miss Lucy Bickel, of the Baltimore Conference Board of Education, and is entitled "Helping Children Grow in Christian Faith." This course is for workers in the nursery, primary, kindergarten and junior classes.

"New Testament: Content and Value" will be taught by Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor of Cresaptown Methodist Church. It is a general course of interest to all adults.

The fifth class will be conducted for ministers and will cover ministerial ethics and the pastors' relationship to the total program of Christian education. Dr. Paul F. Warner, superintendent of the Hagerstown District, will be the leader, assisted by Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church.

The committee making arrangements for the course includes Dr. Warner, Rev. J. H. Snyder, Mrs. Floyd Coad, Carl Pardew, Mrs. E. E. Loar, Mrs. Ernest Lindsay, Rev. E. W. Culp, Rev. Harris, Rev. Bavender and Rev. Emerick.

Persons seeking additional information about the course may call PA 2-3477.

City Transacts Varied Business

Routine business transacted by the Mayor and Council yesterday included the acceptance of the retirement of one worker and the resignation of another.

Council granted the request of Harry Nee to retire from the Water Department on November 1, when he will be 65.

Officials accepted the resignation of William E. Doby, a pipeman in the Fire Department, effective October 18.

Thursday, October 20, was proclaimed as Credit Union Day in Cumberland, and Monday, October 24, as United Nations Day.

An order authorizing the payment of $1,000 to John W. Rollins Jr. and William Torkington for the annual audit was adopted.

Sewage flow through the Sewage Treatment plant averaged 4,565,000 gallons daily during September.

Water consumption last week averaged 13,663,000 gallons daily, down from last year's 14,469,000 gallons. Lake Gordon was two feet below the spillway Sunday and Lake Koon, down seven feet.

Kel-Co Credit Union Building To Be Dedicated

Event Set Saturday At 200 S. Lee Street

The Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, representing employees of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and their families, will dedicate its new office building at 200 South Lee Street Saturday.

The dedication service is scheduled at 7 p. m. and will be preceded by an open house from 3 to 7 p. m.

Melvin E. Dye, president of the credit union, will give the dedicatory address and Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer, will be master of ceremonies.

All officials of the credit union are expected to be present. They include:

Will Take Part

Board of Directors — Melvin E. Dye, president; Amos E. Johnson, vice-president; Paul T. Cioni, secretary; Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer; Albert J. Jenkins, Joseph D. Brandenburg, Garnett M. Yost Jr., Floyd P. Grace, Arthur F. Young, Jack B. Ruggles, and Graydon S. Dunlap, Directors; Fishell, Charles M. Little, Supervisory committee; Graydon S. Dunlap, Joseph D. Brandenburg, Paul T. Cioni, Educational committee; Richard L. McClelland, chairman of Building committee.

Representatives of the Maryland Credit Union League are expected to be here for the ceremony.

The building was completed recently by the Orrie Sensabaugh Contracting Company of Cumberland.

The Kel-Co Credit Union was organized in January 1958 and has operated from office quarters in the Rubber Workers building at 152 North Mechanic Street.

Assets Are High

Mr. O'Baker said the credit union has had a continued rapid growth since its inception and now affords a healthy financial condition adequate to meet the needs of its members.

Current assets, he said, are about $800,000 with outstanding loans of $747,000 and with members' savings $654,000.

For the past three years, the organization has paid five per cent dividends on members' savings while providing service to its members.

All members of the credit union and other interested persons are invited to view the new office quarters.

Local Youth Found Guilty

A 13-year-old local boy was ordered sent to the Maryland Training School yesterday after being found guilty of being a delinquent minor at a hearing in Juvenile Court.

The boy was picked up by City Police in connection with breaking and entering the Goldsmith-Black Company here, and was found guilty by Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

Magistrate Fatkin noted the local youth had a previous record in Juvenile Court.

In another hearing yesterday before Magistrate Fatkin, a 17-year-old local boy was found guilty of being a delinquent minor and placed on probation for one year.

The youth was arrested by police for ransacking several automobiles.

Deaths

Bennett, Mrs. Carrie M., 78, Davis, W. Va.

Lewis, John D., infant, Cross, W. Va.

COMPLETES BASIC — Airman James R. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Dean, this city, has completed his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, and has been selected to attend a technical training course for electrical repairmen at Chanute AFB, Ill. Dean attended Fort Hill High School and enlisted at the local Air Force station several weeks ago.

The home economists conducting the four-day school, Miss Constance Weiser, lecturer, and Miss Mary Metag, her assistant, have first hand knowledge on the subject of nutrition through their educational training and through their association with the National Livestock and Meat Board.

This cooking school is no classroom type of lecture series. It will be full of contests, prizes, games and surprises, all of which make learning fun.

Governors View Job Problem In 11 States

Tawes Attending Lexington Meeting

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky Monday called for an all-out leadership drive to ease the economic doldrums in an 11-state area.

Combs welcomed the delegates to the Appalachian Governors' Conference with the suggestion that the needs faced by the people of the area call for a joint effort.

Only three other governors showed up for the first session of the two-day conference, but the other states sent various experts to represent them.

On hand besides Combs were Govs. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, J. Millard Tawes of Maryland and J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia. North Carolina's Luther Hodges is slated to arrive Tuesday.

Tawes, who called the first conference earlier this year, said the joint approach to common problems leads "toward seeking a regional solution to a regional problem."

He said he was particularly interested in the suggestion by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia that the group work on speeding up existing federal highway programs.

Tawes said Combs had summed up the Appalachian problem by pointing out the great need for jobs.

In his welcome, Combs said Kentucky officials recognized a kinship with the economic problems shared by other Appalachian areas.

"The idea of a working association of Appalachian states makes a lot of sense to us in Kentucky," he said.

Combs said even if a common program could not be agreed on, "we might all just agree to support each other's programs. We might get somewhere that way."

Gov. Ellington said Tennessee had only seven or eight counties that fit into the picture of need. However, he said, if it had not been for federal aid and TVA projects, half of Tennessee might be in the same boat as other seriously depressed areas.

Almond said he believed state and local action should be exploited first before federal aid is sought.

But, he added, something definitely needs to be done to help find opportunities for the vast pools of manpower in depressed areas of his state.

The most important part of the conference comes Tuesday when the conclusions and suggested programs will be submitted.

Fantasy Of Food School Opens Here This Morning

"Fantasy of Food," the annual cooking school sponsored by the Times-News will open this morning at 9:15 in the Strand Theater.

During the four-day school, over 40 practical recipes, eye catching as well as taste-tempting, will be prepared before the homemakers' eyes.

These prepared dishes and other items will be presented those attending the sessions. Along with that goes cook books that gives the recipes of the dishes demonstrated together with many more that are due to give the meals a new look.

The home economists conducting the four-day school, Miss Constance Weiser, lecturer, and Miss Mary Metag, her assistant, have first hand knowledge on the subject of nutrition through their educational training and through their association with the National Livestock and Meat Board.

This cooking school is no classroom type of lecture series. It will be full of contests, prizes, games and surprises, all of which make learning fun.

Food Dealers Plan Program For Tomorrow

Tawes To Address Crowd Of 700

A full program has been arranged for the 16th annual dinner meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland scheduled for 7 p. m. Wednesday in St. Mary's Hall on Oldtown Road.

Governor J. Millard Tawes will deliver the principal address which is expected to encourage small business men.

The program will open with Mrs. Harry G. Ort leading in the singing of "America." Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will give the invocation.

William G. Beier, president of the Western Maryland Association, will extend a welcome and introduce the toastmaster, J. Goodloe Jackson, longtime secretary of the association.

This will be followed by greetings from Rudolph A. Kreiling, president, and Joseph L. Manning, managing director, of the Independent Retail Food Distributors of Maryland.

Special guests, including many of the elected officials of both Allegany and Garrett counties, will be introduced. Then Governor Tawes will speak.

Entertainment by Schaughency's Entertainment Service, Pittsburgh, Pa., will conclude the program. The entertainment will be under the personal direction of Mrs. Gertrude Schaughency and Lowell M. Smith.

Billy Webb will be the master of ceremonies for the entertainment. The acts will include Ross and Stone, a humorous team; Vic Hyde, America's one-man band; The Barons, called a wonderful new act, and Betty Daugherty, singer. Frank Jaroma will accompany these entertainers at the piano.

School Principals Will Meet Today

Principals of public high schools of Allegany County will meet today at 1:30 p. m. at the Board of Education office.

Among other business they will receive the forms for the annual state report which includes such data as teacher assignments, subjects being taught, enrollment and pupil load.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, has worked out the agenda for the meeting.

Man Is Jailed One Year In Property Case

Four Others Get Hearing

A local property owner was sentenced to one year in Allegany County Jail yesterday afternoon in a special session of City Police Court for maintaining property which is a fire hazard and unsanitary.

Thomas L. Popp, 229 North Lee Street, was one of five persons tried by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on similar charges.

About a year ago Mr. Popp was sentenced to a jail term on a similar charge and was later released with the understanding he would make necessary improvements to his property.

Condemnation Urged
Magistrate Weatherholt recommended that the Mayor and City Council take legal action to condemn the property.

In the other cases, Joseph H. Reinhart, 11 South Lee Street, was given a hearing on similar charges but sentence was deferred until such time he makes proper repairs to the 10-apartment building at 890 Sperry Terrace.

Mr. Reinhart was instructed to meet at the apartment building today at 1 a. m. with Charles Nuzum, city engineer, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker and J. Byron Dowling who will make recommendations for improvements to the property within a reasonable amount of time or sentence would be passed by the magistrate.

Mr. Dowling testified yesterday that within the past two years the health department made 17 inspections of the property as a result of numerous complaints. The apartment building was reported as being a fire hazard and unfit for family habitation.

Charles Cook, of 501 Avirett Avenue, was given until November 1 to improve his property at 321-323 Emily Street to comply with fire and health regulations.

The building was condemned when purchased by Mr. Cook who has attempted to improve the property. Magistrate Weatherholt pointed out during the hearing.

Repairs Inadequate
Repairs to the building are still inadequate and a fine of $200 will be imposed if the property is declared as a fire hazard and unfit for habitation by the November 1 deadline.

Edward Appel, 504 Fairview Avenue, was found guilty of maintaining a fire and health hazard on his property although it has been improved and remedied. He was given a suspended sentence.

A case against Mrs. Villa Brown, 2 Grand Avenue, v. owns property at 41 Cresap Street was dismissed after it was noted that recommended repairs have been made.

The cases were presented by City Solicitor William R. Cascarden.

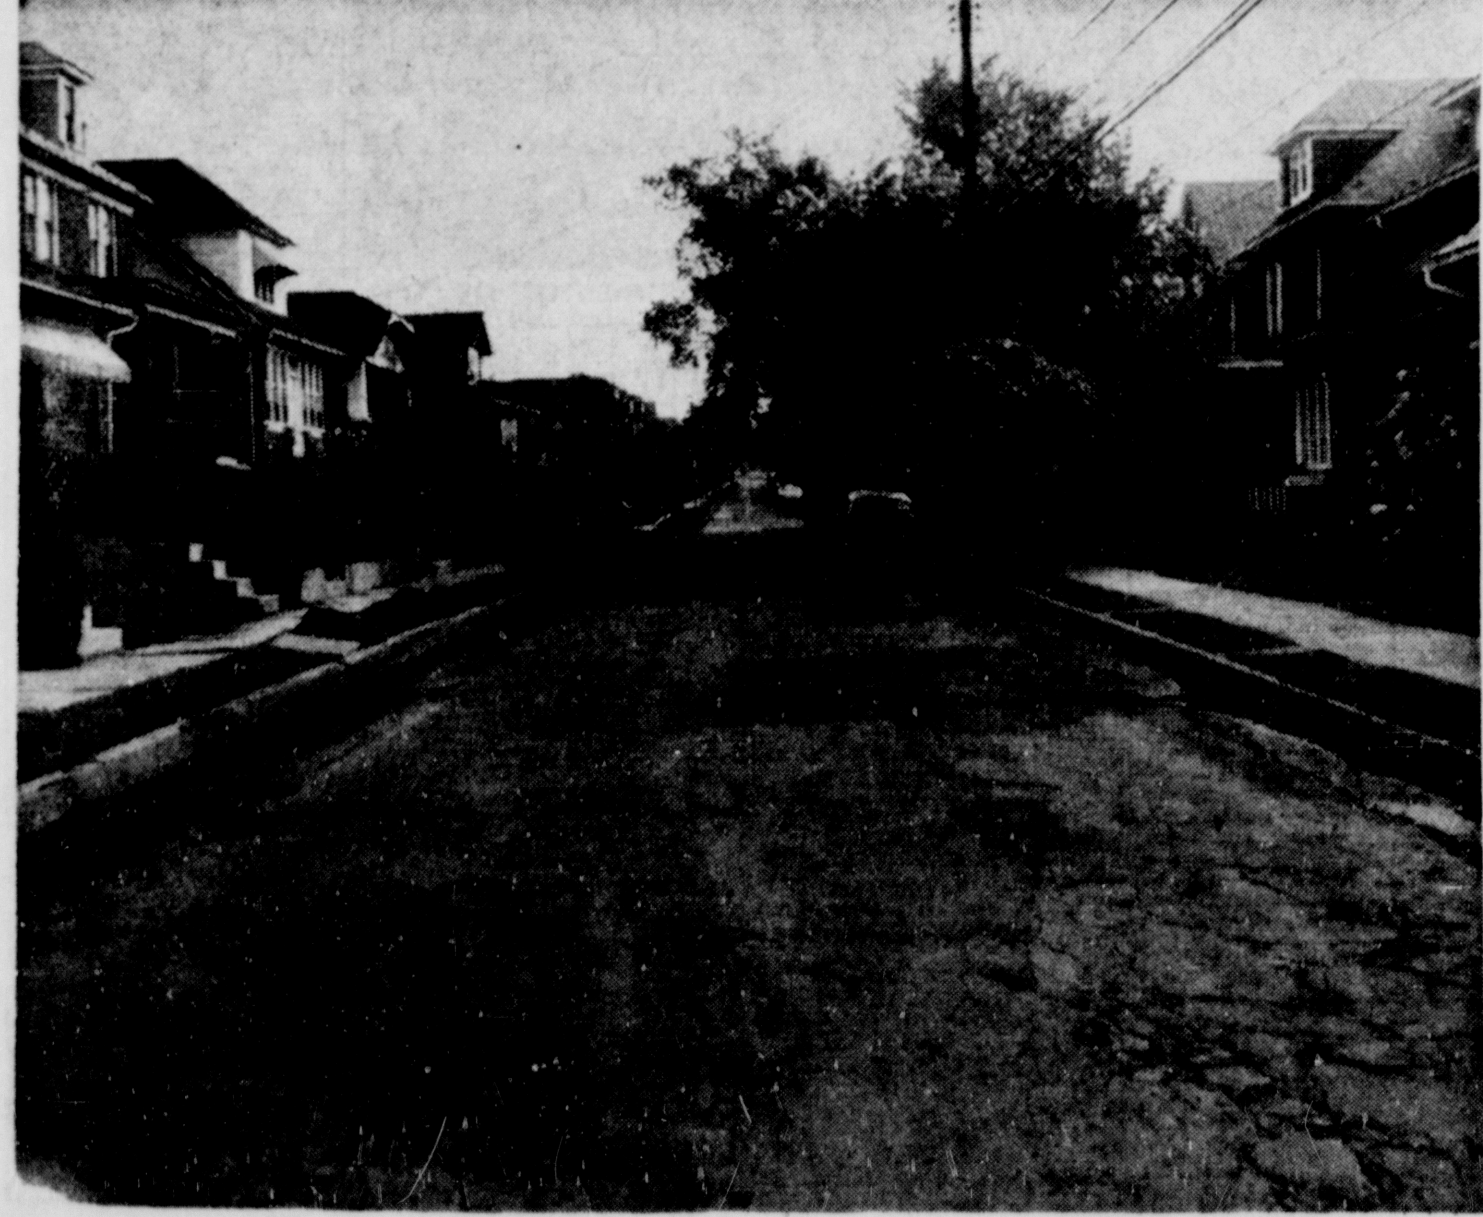

Those who attended the hearings included Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Fire Chief Parker, Mr. Dowling, Gaylord Brooks of the county health department, Mr. Nuzum and Charles Scarlett, of the city engineers office and Edward Trost fire inspector of the local fire department.

Scout Council Plans Meeting

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold its annual fall meeting Thursday, October 27, at Camp Potomac, near Oldtown.

A "dutch treat" dinner will be served starting at 6:30 p. m. and the regular business meeting will follow. Plans will be made at the meeting for the final months of the Golden Jubilee year of Scouting.

Reservations for the dinner must be made with scout headquarters at 417 North Mechanic Street.
